

DARING ROBBERY ON A CROWDED STREET.

SACK OF MONEY STOLEN FROM BROKER.

Robbers Dashed Through the Crowd and Got Away With $400—One Man Captured After a Long Chase But No Money Found on Him.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28.—James Elder, a broker at 202 California street, was the victim of one of the most daring daylight robberies ever committed in this city, near the entrance to his office, shortly before noon today. Set upon by three desperate crooks, the broker was relieved of a coin sack containing $400 in gold before he could make an outcry, and although the streets were thronged with people at the time, the robbers dashed past them all, two of them making their escape. One of them, however, Louis Clements, who has been positively identified by Mr. Elder as the man who grabbed his money, was followed by Detective McMahon and Policeman Dower. For several blocks the fleeing thief led them a merry chase, but at California and Front streets the officers overhauled him and he submitted to arrest without a struggle. None of the stolen coin was found in his possession when searched at the

ALAMEDA SUGAR CO. TO GO INTO TRUST.

Statement is Made That a Deal is Now Being Arranged for the Stock.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28.—The Bulletin says: In financial circles the belief prevails that the Alameda Sugar Company is going into the sugar trust. That a deal is being made in the stock of the company is openly announced but an effort is being made by the brokers having the transaction in charge to conceal the identity of those interested. Sutro & Company have been commissioned to gather in the outstanding stock and have already secured 13,500 shares for Charles J. Welch of New York, who, it is presumed, is acting for the real parties interested. There is a possibility that Mr. Welch is acting for friends who are anxious to secure a controlling interest in the Alameda Sugar Company but the street takes

THUGS ARE CAUGHT BY POLICE.

They are Accused of Beating a Woman With a Revolver and Robbing Her.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28.—The three brutal perpetrators of the assault upon Mrs. T. V. Matthews, living at 543 Haight street, who beat her into a state of insensibility with a revolver on March 4 in an attempt to rob her, have been arrested. They are John Woods, alias Davis, alias Gilmore; George Whitehead, alias White, alias Whitelaw, and Michael Nolan. All are opium smokers, well known to the police and officials at the House of Correction, and all have long been suspected as being the men wanted in connection with the Haight street robbery and assault. Woods has positively been identified as the man who wrote the decoy note by which Mrs. Ida Tuttle was induced to leave her house so as to lessen the difficulties of the robbers, who were waiting on the outside. When she took her departure the thugs entered the house and found Mrs. T. V. Matthews, mother of Mrs. Tuttle, in possession. Woods beat her savagely with a revolver, after which the burglars secured a trifling sum and made their escape. Shortly after the robbery and assault on Mrs. Matthews, Nolan was arrested and questioned by the detectives. He was released, the police giving him to understand that the evidence against him was insufficient. Soon after his release Nolan shaved a luxuriant mustache and the detectives kept on his track, soon learning that his accomplices in the crime were located in Sacramento. A watch was kept for the men and when they returned here with two women they were arrested. The evidence against the trio is very convincing and there is no doubt in the minds of the police authorities that the right men have been arrested.

EASTERN COTTON MILLS TO CLOSE DOWN.

Companies Will Not Give Help a Chance to Quit and Walk Out.

LOWELL, Mass., March 28.—The responsibility for the move on the unions of the seven cotton mills here, in which operatives have declared a strike to begin next Monday morning, have decided not to attempt to start the mills on Monday. The shut-down in anticipation of the strike for a 10 per cent. advance, was due to the belief of the agents that no other course was open to them. They adhere to their previous declaration that a wage increase could not be granted and assert that it would not be profitable to attempt to run the mills with half a force. Then, too, should they attempt to operate their plants they say it probably would cause trouble between union and non-union operatives, with resultant damage to property. Between 18,000 and 20,000 whose weekly wages aggregate $125,000 will be affected by the closing of the mills. ORDER EXPLAINED. BOSTON, March 28.—The order to shut down the seven corporations at Lowell, was unexpected. On March 17th it was stated here that in the event of a strike order, the operatives probably would be given a chance to walk out. The mill officials do not regard the closing as a lock-out, but as a step made necessary by the notification that the unions would strike next Monday. The mill men place the whole

SAN MIGUEL WAS KILLED IN BATTLE

Filipino Leader Was Shot By the American Soldiers.

Bodies of Fifty Insurgents Turned Over to Relatives.

MANILA, March 28.—The report that San Miguel, the Filipino leader, was killed in Friday's fight near Marikina is confirmed. His body has been identified and delivered to his relatives for burial. San Miguel, with his bodyguard, consisting of thirty men, abandoned the fort at Marikina and attempted to escape but the Macabebes scouts surrounded the party, mortally wounded San Miguel and killed six of his bodyguard. After he fell, San Miguel emptied his revolver among the Macabebes and died fighting. San Miguel was the last uncompromising Filipino insurgent. He failed to attain prominence during the insurrection. The bodies of the insurgents killed in the fighting at Marikina, to the number of about fifty, were taken to Calocan today and were surrendered to the relatives of the dead. Lieutenant Reese and the other wounded scouts will recover.

TEXT-BOOK COMMISSION NOW COMPLETE.

Dr. E. E. Brown of Berkeley to Work With Governor and Supt. Kirk to Complete School Books.

SACRAMENTO, March 28.—Governor Pardee presided over a meeting of the State Board of Education held in this city today, at which Dr. E. E. Brown of the State University was chosen as the third member of the commission created by the last Legislature to revise and complete the State series of text books. Governor Pardee and Superintendent of Public Instruction Kirk are the other members of the commission. The Board voted to re-open the case

CORNER STONE IS LAID AT LOS ANGELES.

LOS ANGELES, March 28.—With impressive Masonic ceremonies, the corner stone of the new Chamber of Commerce building on Broadway, between First and Second streets, was laid at 2:35 o'clock this afternoon. The ceremony was in charge of the Masonic Grand Lodge of California and was performed before a great crowd of spectators, including visiting Masons from all parts of Southern California, representatives of the Merchants Exchange of San Francisco, the Chamber of Commerce of Fresno, San Diego, Pasadena and many other cities of the State. Following an address by J. S. Slauson, Fred. K. Rule, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presented the trowel to Grand Master Orrin S. Henderson, who conducted the ceremony of installing the massive block of granite in its place. A copper box, hermetically sealed and containing a great variety of papers, was included in the masonry. The new Chamber of Commerce building will be a six-story structure of elaborate design.

GREENVILLE NOW UNDER THE FLOOD

NEW ORLEANS, March 28.—A special from Greenville, Miss., to the State says: "Only six blocks were above water at noon. "All night the police with rescuing parties were at work, bringing people from the flooded district, many houses being in water to a depth of several feet. "Some of the great plantations above the crevasse at La Grange, report heart-rending scenes. Hundreds of negroes have been brought to Greenville for safety and the town is filled with sick taken from the plantations surrounding. "This morning comes news of a threatened break in the great levee at Catfish Point, some thirty miles north of Greenville. "The situation is serious. Business is at a standstill. Both electric plants are surrounded by water. Many industries have shut down."

MAY HAVE JUDGES AT THE BIG FIGHT.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28.—Young Corbett and Terry McGovern, through their respective managers, have under consideration a proposition to depart from the ordinary plan of leaving the entire responsibility of a decision to a referee and to select two judges to serve with the referee in case the fight goes the limit. The two boys believe that the selection of two judges would solve the entire problem and result in general satisfaction. According to the plan the referee would have entire supervision in the ring as to fouls and the conduct of the fighters and would announce a decision any time before the limit was reached. Providing, however, that the fight went the limit the two judges would decide upon the winner. In case they were unable to agree, the referee would cast the deciding vote. It is believed that if this arrangement is agreed upon, Harry Corbett will consent to act as referee, and this is greatly desired by both of the fighters.

TRAINMEN WILL NOT RETREAT.

J. P. Morgan and His Men May Have a Big Strike on Their Hands.

NEW HAVEN, March 28.—The trainmen of the New York, New Haven and Hartford road have presented to President Hall an ultimatum of the grievances which have been under consideration.

It is understood that the railroad officials have expressed a willingness to grant an eleven hour day in place of the present 12 hour schedule, but that the commission have refused to accept the proposition.

NEW YORK, March 28.—At the office of J. P. Morgan and Company it was said that no communication by telephone or otherwise had been received from President Hall. A member of the firm said he did not believe there would be a strike on the New York, New Haven and Hartford.

The important point of difference between the trainmen's committee and the company officials is said to relate to the men's demand for a 10-hour day.

It was announced that as the situation had been thoroughly canvassed in the conference yesterday and the day before, there seemed nothing to be gained by further discussion at this time with the sub-committee of directors.

The important point of difference between the trainmen's committee and the company officials is said to relate to the men's demand for a 10-hour day.

CRESCENT CITY RELEASED FROM ROCKS.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28.—A storm of wind and the waves have done for the Crescent City, on Fish Rock, what the skill of all the seamen mechanics could not do.

On those bleak rocks the steamer grounded, months ago, in a storm that drove her inland and settled her so hard and fast that she was thought to be almost a total loss.

BOLD ROBBER ESCAPES.

Leaves all His Tools in an Attempt to Gain His Freedom.

Dashed By a Policeman and Scaled a High Fence.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28.—Surprised at work in a saloon conducted by W. J. Schroeder, 925 Mission street, shortly after five o'clock this morning, a desperate cracksmen abandoned a complete set of safe cracking tools, a drilled safe combination with explosives in place and fuse capped, fired one shot at Policeman Maloney, who frustrated his scheme of robbery, dashed through the rear door of the barroom, passing the policeman in his mad flight, scaled an eight-foot fence that surrounds the rear yard, and made his escape in the darkness.

WILL ABOLISH THE RATE.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28.—The Bulletin is authority for the statement that the collector rates which have brought 14,000 colonists into the State within the past few weeks, will soon be abolished by the Southern Pacific. It was announced that the rates which were inaugurated February 15th would not be effect until June 15th, but within two weeks, it is said they will be no more.

No little surprise has been occasioned by the statement for the reason that the rates brought 2000 travelers weekly over the Southern Pacific lines and officials of the road expressed their agreeable surprise at the immense traffic.

It is estimated that by June 15th, under the present rates, 14,000 colonists would have entered California. The Southern Pacific has been forced to use extra cars and equipment to accommodate the travel, but with the abolishment of the reduced rates, the collector traffic will practically cease.

No official announcement of the fact that the rates are to be abandoned has yet been made.

L'ENVOI.

When earth's last picture is painted,
And the tubes are twisted and dried,
And the oldest colors have faded,
And the youngest critic has died,
We shall rest—and, faith, we shall need it—
Lie down for an aeon or two,
Till the Master of All Good Workmen
Shall set to work anew.

And those that were good shall be happy:
They shall sit in a golden chair;
They shall splash at a ten-league canvas
With brushes of comet's hair;
They shall find real saints to draw from,
Magdalene, Peter and Paul;
They shall work for an age at a sitting,
And never get tired at all.

And only the Master shall praise us;
And only the Master shall blame;
And no one shall work for money,
And no one shall work for fame;
But each for the joy of working,
And each in his separate star,
Shall draw the Thing as he sees it,
For the God of the Things as they are.

HE WAS SORRY.

American Consul Explains Letter Given Dr. O'Brien.

Did Not Intend to Insult the Saxon Government.

DRESDEN, March 28.—United States Consul Cole has, according to a note published by the official Dresden Journal, expressed regret to Premier Metschenbach for giving Dr. O'Brien, the American dentist, who was recently expelled from Saxony, a certificate expressing sympathy with him and reflecting on the Saxon government.

The note says Mr. Cole was asked for an explanation of the occurrence, and in an interview with the Premier he admitted he had furnished Dr. O'Brien with a certificate at his request, in order to help him in America.

Mr. Cole added that in so doing he had no intention of clashing the Saxon government with acting arbitrarily and expressed regret at the fact that he had been drawn into the matter.

Mr. Cole begged the Premier to rest assured that no idea of insulting the Saxon government had entered his mind.

STOCKTON HOPES FOR MOST PROFITABLE YEAR FOR YEARS.

STOCKTON, March 28.—Another generous downpour has crunched San Joaquin county and added assurance to the belief that the coming season will be the most profitable ever experienced in the county in the matter of fruit and grain. It rained steadily the latter part of the night and the indications are that there is more storm coming.

CONCERT GIVEN BY HUGHES CLUB.

The concert given by the Hughes Club in the Unitarian Church last night was a decided musical event. The church was crowded and the bursts of applause were frequent. An exceptionally good program was rendered.

Miss Virginia White, violinist, and John P. Jones, tenor, assisted the club. The club soloists were Miss Julia Johnson, Mrs. J. L. Lowery, Williams, Miss Florence Juiletter, Mrs. J. A. Massey and Miss Margaret Davis, pianist, Miss Juiletter's rendering of the recitator, and air from "Nadine" was simply glorious.

Miss White gave Sarasate's "Reverie" with strong effect on the violin, and Mr. Jones, "Blow, Blow, Thou Winter Wind," in finished tone, also "Calm is the Sea" and "Reverie." Miss Julia Johnson, sang "Oh! Non Craden, Mi-ran" from "Sonnambula" with sweetness and purity. The chorus members were all excellent.

TO ENCOURAGE GIRLS TO MARRY.

English Funds to Provide Dowries for Those Who Might Not Wed.

To provide young women with sufficient dowries to make marriage a thing more probable so far as they are concerned has been recognized as a "charity" in England.

Like a number of other institutions in England, this one has traced back to Queen Elizabeth. It is recorded that on one occasion the queen was passing through one of the big towns, and was struck with the uncommon ugliness of the women.

These girls, she was positive, never would find husbands, and men were paid to marry them. Acting on the thought, she provided dowries which were to be paid to the young women, to a certain number, in the event of their marriage. There were a number of charities which provide dowries to young women who otherwise would be portionless.

In Sutton-Coldfield the trustees of the charity elect four young women every year. These young women are paid each $100. In this case marriage must precede the gift, and its marriage certificate, along with credentials of good character, must be given in evidence when the dowry is received.

In London the main-doll corporation has a trust fund from which three young women are to be given dowries. The girls must be between the ages of 16 and 25, and must be drawn by lot. For a year this fund has suspended operations owing to a disagreement over the method of bestowing the money. It will be resumed as soon as an agreement has been reached. The amount to be divided among the three successful in the dowry lottery is $500.

Arnold's marriage gift is another London matrimonial charity. It is given to a Jewish bride.

The Raine's charity provides a fund to be given a girl student in one of the schools. This dowry consists of $500. The founder arranged a quaint program to be followed in making the award. Each girl draws a sealed ticket cut of a canister. There are elaborate ceremonies connected with the breaking of the seals of these tickets.

After the wedding a dinner is provided for the bride and bridegroom and their friends. The governors and friends of the foundation also dine together at their own expense. At an appointed time after the dinner the bride and bridegroom and their friends enter the room.

A choir of boys and girls sing an ode, after which an address of congratulation and admonition is delivered. Then another ode is sung, and the proceedings are brought to an end by the company rising and drinking to the health and happiness of the fortunate couple.

In Bristol there is a fund of 122 by the Rev. Thomas White, who bequeathed a sum sufficient to provide four yearly portions of $40 each. These have been awarded by preference to "poor maidens of honor for their art and industry." The canons must show that they have done something towards a bank account, and the marriage they contemplate must be deemed a prudent one. The prospective husband must be proven a man of good character and of some industry.

John Whitson, an alderman of Bristol, founded a Red Maid's school. Since 1844 the trustees of the school have been awarding a dowry to meritorious girls in the school. The regulations are much the same as those in the White fund, but the young woman has to produce the marriage certificate before her application is considered.

At Windsor there is another old marriage fund, which gave dowries of $50 to applicants. There is no method of selection in this case, and the applicants do not have to take their chances with a lottery. The trustees of the fund exercise their discretion when the application is made, and if they pass favorably on it the dowry is made at once.

Cardiff possesses its fund in the name of the third marquis of Bute's silver wedding dowry fund. The patronage is vested in the mayor alone. One of the stipulations is that on presentation of the money after the marriage, the couple must be reminded of the origin of the fund. The mayor is obliged to read to them the first eleven verses of the second chapter of St. John. And the third day the marriage in Cann of Galilee.—London Express.

THE COMIC MUSE.

When winter passes out,
Comes spring with all her grace;
The snowball takes its place,
The mothball takes its place.

She would not show her love, ah, no!
Though in the face two half-revealed;
And she was dull at puzzle-son,
One romance still is well concealed.

A LENTEN SOLILOQUY.
Ah, no, I shall not eat
The tempting things
Of kings—
The watermelon sweet;

Nor yet the cantaloupe;
Nor early pass;
For these
Are quite beyond my scope.

Strawberries in their box?
I'll have them not.
Great Scott!
It is the price that shocks!

No tempting meats I'll buy—
No cut that bakes;
Nor steaks,
The prices are too high.

One time my fancy was
For eggs, but, say—
No. They
Are 35 per doz.

'Tis not that I am good,
Nor yet am bad.
I'm said,
I could not if I would.

It is a fast I keep,
I so ahead
A dread
Thing, winking or asleep.

'Tis not the slinks that sting,
But 'tis that I
Must buy
New bonnets in the spring!

AIRY NOTHINGS.

Our revels now are ended. These our actors,
As I foretold you, were all spirits, and
Are melted into air, into thin air;
And, like the baseless fabric of this vision,
The cloud-capped towers, the gorgeous palaces,
The solemn temples, the great globe itself,
Yea, all which it inherit, shall dissolve,
And, like this insubstantial pageant faded,
Leave not a rack behind. We are such stuff
As dreams are made of, and our little life
Is rounded with a sleep.

OUR GREAT BULWARK.

Better than a battlement
Or a towering iron fence,
Or a western black-snake whip,
Are the stockyards for defense.

When a European state
Has for blood secured a threat,
Ere for war it makes a date
It must see the stockyards first.

When some foreign land in tre
Threatens, it will not dismay,
We can placidly inquire:
"Who will feed your army, pray?"

Though they fling a challenge wide,
Patiently we may say: "Weod;
With the stockyards on our side
We can make the world be good."

OF THE NOBLE NATURE.

It is not growing like a tree
In bulk, doth make man better be;
Or standing long an oak, three hundred
To fall a log at last, dry, bald, and sear;
A lily of a day,
Is farer far in May,
Although it fall and die as night;
It was the plant and flower of Light.

In small proportions we just beauties see
And in short measures do our lives run.

When the art societies of the country join in petitioning Congress to put on the free list works of art fifty years old or more, the hollowiness of the pretense that the present art tariff is protective becomes apparent. This petition of artists and intelligent laymen is singularly moderate. It accepts provisionally the barbarous theory that the artist together with the plaster image-maker and the maker of "real oil paintings" must be protected by a tariff.

That the older works which serve an undoubted educational purpose shall be exempted from duty. Here is a case of tariff reduction where there is no protected industry to make trouble, and no appreciable amount of revenue to be lost. Nothing can prevent the passage of the bill but sheer fanaticism for the tariff as it stands. That Senator Hoar, for example, will wish to put himself in any such position before his Worcester neighbors, who join in the petition, we cannot believe. And every enlightened member of the House or Senate should make it a duty to bring the Loving tariff to a vote.—New York Evening Post.

WARFIELD WINS FINIGAN LOSSES.

GENERAL SECURES PROPERTY OF COLONEL IN BERKELEY.

The long-contested suit over certain parcels of realty between Gen. R. H. Warfield, proprietor of the California Hotel in San Francisco and Colonel P. A. Finigan of Berkeley was finally brought to a close to-day by the filing of a stipulation of agreement between the contestants whereby the colonel surrendered to the general the property in question.

The suit had its inception in a gay summer spent at the Hotel Rafael by the pretty Miss Finigan years ago, when General Warfield was "prime host" at the Von Schroeder hotelery across the bay. The bill rendered at the end of the festivities by the general was $3000 for their entertainment. The charges made were disputed by the colonel and the general was forced to bring suit for the payment of his claim. He was given judgment for the amount but it was another matter to get the colonel.

Colonel Finigan, however, had property in Berkeley and this was levied against. In the meantime, the colonel had not been asked for when the property was on record as belonging to the daughters.

Then were more proceedings necessary and the transfer of the property by the colonel to his offspring was declared fraudulent. Other people became interested in the suit and Finigan went through insolvency. Warfield, however, never lost sight of the land upon which he had fastened his hold and today was declared its owner.

SPEAKS WELL FOR OAKLAND FIRM.

J. McIntyre of the West Oakland Furniture Store, Shows Letters.

Letters from Sacramento, Santa Cruz and Solano Counties are received constantly by Mr. McIntyre of the West Oakland Furniture Store, corner Seventh and Second streets, which contain orders for furniture from people having once received a visit to that furniture store.

All countries (the most skeptical) that a large amount of business is daily transacted. Many large furniture houses in San Francisco keep up on the matter of paying no rent, and thereby being able to offer better furnishings to the buyers. Mr. McIntyre's store is a better place to operate a factory for mattress-making besides being a large importer, buying direct from Europe. Eastern factories could do better business with him, saving a good many dollars by sending the West Oakland Furniture Store.

MME. TULLY IN OAKLAND.

The World-Famed Dermatologist Now at the Hotel Metropole.

The ladies of Oakland will be especially interested in the announcement that Madame Tully, the famous dermatologist, is at the Hotel Metropole, and will be pleased to meet the ladies of Oakland during the coming week.

Madame Tully has established permanent headquarters at the California Hotel, San Francisco, and is now visiting Oakland for the purpose of setting acquainted with the ladies who will afterwards be privileged to call upon her at San Francisco.

During her visit in Oakland she will give introductory treatment to as many as call. This famous lady is well spoken of by the press all over the United States, and her visit to this city should be regarded with interest by the ladies. Her handsomely appointed parlors at the Hotel Metropole will be open from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

The San Francisco Examiner in speaking of Madame Tully says: "She is the discoverer of the wonderful secret process of removing wrinkles, birth marks, snarling pits and other facial blemishes and disfigurements. No other person is regarded with interest by the ladies for the ladies of this country and abroad. The ladies of Oakland are invited to call of Madame Tully."

Mr. Bryan's attitude at this juncture reminds us of the gentleman who stood on the bridge at midnight when somebody moved the bridge.—Atlanta Constitution.

WARFIELD WINS FINIGAN LOSSES.

DISPUTE OVER TRANSFER OF HEAVILY MORTGAGED PROPERTY.

In a trade in realty between two women one now alleges she was bunched, and in court this morning stated that she had been worsted to the extent of $6,600.

The suit was one brought by Mrs. Lucy C. McCann, widow of the late ex-Judge McCann of Santa Cruz, now a resident of San Francisco, against H. P. Hook of the city and Mrs. Nanette P. Hook, his mother, to quiet title to a piece of property at the corner of Tenth and Madison streets, and valued at $15,000.

The property in question consists of a lot 100x100 feet and a house, and was exchanged by Mrs. Hook for a piece of realty owned by Mrs. McCann in San Francisco, as she alleges, under the impression that Mrs. McCann's property was only encumbered by a mortgage of $4,000.

Not long ago a dispute between the two women was carried on through the agency of the late E. E. Kane. Throughout the entire proceedings the shadowy form of the late real estate agent hovered in the background, and were he only able to testify as to his part in the transaction his version would probably go far to determine the claims of the two contestants.

Mrs. McCann claims that she agreed to make the trade of her property, and the property passed to her as represented. In each case, both properties were encumbered by acknowledged mortgages of $4,000. Their value was estimated at the same time, and the net result by this system of reasoning should have been the same.

Under advice of counsel, Mrs. Hook says she made the exchange and later found that there was a mortgage of $6,600, which had been overlooked in the transaction. Then she realized that she was in serious trouble and decided the property to her son, H. P. Hook, for $2,000, the amount of the mortgage to the firm of Hook Bros. In a cross-complaint she asks that the deeds be set aside and that she be given back her property.

PULPIT NOTES FROM MANY PLACES.

SUNDAY SERMONS ANNOUNCED BY THE LOCAL PASTORS.

Says the Pacific: "The church has one great mission; and that is to evangelize the nations. Our Lord commanded His disciples to continue the propagation which He had begun. 'Go ye, therefore, make disciples of all the nations, teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you.' By the very terms of her constitution, the Christian church is a school, the heralds of the Gospel are teachers of the truth, Christian converts are pupils in various stages of advancement, and ministers, themselves taught of God, are divinely appointed teachers. It is the Lord's own ideal in practice the church ought to conform to it as nearly as may be. The assertion goes without challenge that the church has a mission to the world, to the children; but is equal assent given to the proposition that she sustains exactly the same relation to grown-up adherents? Does the church definitely aim to be in the true sense of the term a school of higher Christian education?"

"We are not criticizing our universities," says the Pacific, "and take pleasure in stating that a professor in the University of California made recently in a public address a strong presentation of the need for a greater emphasis everywhere upon spiritual realities. But it is important that in a locality where intellectualism is so dominant it be known how utterly they failed in that great convention at Chicago, who spoke without any spiritual suggestiveness, and important to mark the signs of the times lest we fail to have our proper part in the great work which God has entrusted to his people. It was an oversight of intellectualism which led an educated, intellectual father to remark not long ago that if he had a hundred sons to educate for the ministry he should want them trained in systematic theology rather than in psychology. Both should have place; the question is, What place?"

It is stated that the Memorial Chapel at Stanford University has cost about $600,000. Mrs. Stanford does not give the figures, preferring that the cost should not be known. But this according to an article in a recent number of Harper's Weekly, is the estimate of competent judges. It is greatly to be regretted that the auditorium is very defective in its acoustics.

It has been intimated that they who talk of the alienation of the workingman from the church fall to take into account the fact that a large majority of the workingmen in this country are Roman Catholics. Such workingmen are not antagonistic to the church; they are antagonistic to Protestantism.

The Christian Register looks forward to a time when the Baptists will give up baptism by immersion as a test of Christian discipleship. There is a nut for the opponents of institutional church work to crack in the sentiment by Dr. J. E. Smith, of the most prosperous churches in the city of New York are those that do institutional work. The collection for home mission this

A NEW INVENTION FOR TELEPHONES.

W. D. Watkins of San Jose has given the world what electricians and telephone mechanics have worked hard to discover for years. Any one of the three patents now being shown to the public at 20 Montgomery street, San Francisco, would add great improvement to the Bell telephone.

His signaling device registers at central the number of any phone as soon as the receiver is lifted from its place. By a look-out device patent Watkins also prevents any eavesdropping on party lines. Two people may converse without being heard by any one else.

Besides these remarkable additions the San Jose inventor has succeeded in doing the thing which has long been the dream of all but one useful bell at once on a party line. Watkins has invented other useful things, but men who are interested and informed in telephonic needs and developments predict unusual success for the Watkins telephone.

The inventor is present attending a convention of telephone men at Des Moines, where he exhibits his phones before men who have listened long to the wishes of people for these very improvements. To these points he will go from the convention at Des Moines and demonstrate both the practicability and the durability of his machines. If the Watkins telephone succeeds, as it seems destined to do because of its superior attachments, it will give its inventor a place in the front ranks of twentieth century inventors.

Rev. Harvey Hazel, pastor of the First Christian Church of San Jose, is one of the enthusiastic promoters of the new phone, and in San Francisco this week is overseeing the exhibit of the phones and the sale of a limited number of shares to secure the necessary funds to push the Watkins invention to an early success. Rev. Hazel is well known by a number of professional and business men about the city, having spent three years in the schools of Berkeley, and has had charge of one of the leading churches of San Jose for more than two years.

Mr. E. J. Corry, for several years one of the leading business men of Berkeley, has under his supervision the promotion of the company's interest in the Watkins invention. Mr. Corry has just returned from London, where he gave practical tests of the instruments which were reserved with approbation by the telephone company.

The company which controls the foreign rights is controlled by Berkeley people. Phones may be seen at 20 Montgomery street for a few days only.

NEWS FROM CITY OF ALAMEDA

WANTED TO EAT UNION VS. WOMAN BARBER. RED HOT BRICKS.

BEXAN FORFEITS HIS CARD BECAUSE HIS WIFE WIELDS RAZOR.

UNSAVORY MEAL INSPIRED BY JAMAICA GINGER AND BRANDY.

ALAMEDA, March 28.—A stranger giving his name as George Britton, was arrested last night at the West End by Officer Brampton and charged with being drunk.

Brampton found Britton with two bricks in a fire which he had built in the middle of the street. When asked what he was doing he said he wanted to soften the bricks so he could eat them.

This morning he said he had the stomach ache yesterday and drank some Jamaica ginger and brandy to which he charges his downfall.

Britton recommends the above stimulants to all soldiers, adding that if ever he goes to war he will take a full barrel with him.

LUMIS BURGLAR UNKNOWN.

MIDNIGHT VISITOR HAS NOT BEEN TRACKED BY POLICE.

ALAMEDA, March 28.—The burglar, who visited Dr. Lumis's residence at St. Charles and Santa Clara avenues the night before last, was evidently a very careful individual. Late yesterday the police from which the $10 and three keys are alleged to have been discovered in a closet. Early in the week, it will be remembered, when the house was first visited by the light-fingered gentleman, only five dollars was removed from the purse, and some small change was left behind.

Miss Huley, a nurse in the employ of Dr. Lumis, who was the owner of the stolen property, and a niece of the doctor were asleep in the room from which the money was taken. The doctor's niece was aroused by the intruder just as he was departing, but was afraid to cry out for help. The police are working on the case but as yet have no clue.

NORRIS & ROWE'S SHOW PITCHES ITS TENTS

MIDNIGHT SHOT AT LIVERMORE.

VERY IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL OF LATE MRS. WILLIAM
MENDENHALL.

LIVERMORE, March 28.—About 3:15 this morning a shot was fired from a pistol shot in the street in front of the building. Nightwatchman Condon was in another part of the town at the time, and could not learn who fired the shot.

When Dr. Savage opened his front door in the building a few hours later he found a jagged hole through the plastered wall and a 38-caliber bullet lying on the floor. Nearly every other room in the building was occupied on the night in question, and it was only a matter of luck that no one was injured.

FUNERAL OF MRS. MENDENHALL.
The funeral of Mrs. W. M. Mendenhall, which took place from the M. E. Church at 2 p. m. yesterday, was one of the largest ever seen in the Livermore valley. The numerous friends of the deceased from almost every part of the State accompanied her remains to their last resting place in Mountain Cemetery. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. C. M. Warner, formerly pastor of the church, but now of Oakland, assisted by Rev. L. R. Farnsworth, J. H. Taylor, Rev. H. H. Smith, C. A. McCall and E. E. Kennedy. The coffin was draped in flowers. Miss Myrtle Harpwood a cousin, there was an unimpaired choir, led by Mr. E. E. Kennedy.

The public school closed for the afternoon out of respect to the memory of the deceased, owing to the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Mendenhall attended the funeral of land on which the first school house was erected in the Livermore valley.

MARRIED COUPLE.
Herman D. Butler and Miss Elita Pratt were united in marriage yesterday morning at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Pratt. The bride was attended by Miss Lena Rambo, Max Rambo officiated as best man. Rev. J. A. Keston performed the ceremony.

FOUR WEDDINGS.
According to rumor there are four local weddings scheduled to take place immediately after Easter.

OAKLAND TEAM WINS THEIR FIRST GAME.

Scores the Same in Each Contest—
Fake Story About Fight is Revived—Football.

Oakland got into the running yesterday and copped a game from Fisher's finest; Morley's men overcame the Seattle players and the Portland people dropped a game in San Francisco.

Therefore San Francisco and Los Angeles are each credited with a thousand marks, Oakland and Sacramento have half a thousand, while Portland and Seattle own others.

Father Lohman did not get into the game yesterday and his example was followed by Graham. Gordon wore the mitt. The contest was wholly between the twirlers and was a hard-fought three times in the third but were unable to bunch enough singles to force a man across the residence plate after that. Score three to four.

Several unfortunate faults of the Portland people lost them the celebration on the Eight street lot, San Francisco yesterday. Score, three to four with Lindsey in the box for Uncle Harris' men and Eagle did duty for Portland.

See Smith in the ninth inning got twisted and getting a wrong judgment on a high one sent him by Bertie Leimmas, threw the ball over to the left conservatory instead of to the infield. This put Delmar at the bat. A big right and the score was three to three. Then Meany stole, Krug lashed the leather to the extreme left and Meany made the winning run.

Park Wilson's wanders had to deal with another loss at Los Angeles yesterday and strange to say the score was three to four—somewhat remarkable that it should be the same in the three games yesterday.

Severely injured he held himself together in the sixth when the thousands called out "Cleveland" and allowed the ball to be binged all over the field. He traveled in Eastern League society last season and was a member of the Cleveland team, but decided to try a summer in California, greatly to the disappointment of La Jole. Thus he became rattled when "Cleveland" was shouted at him.

From all I can learn the battle is being waged in a manner of their long and for coming day the situation, from every point of view I cannot see how the opposition league in this territory can possibly survive the season, unless some good sanitarians are ready and willing to stand an immense loss.

CORBETT WORKS IN THE NIGHT.

DOES ROAD STUN'S TO REDUCE HIS WEIGHT IN THE HARD RAIN.

With the rain coming down in bunches, Young Corbett was out on the road after 9 o'clock last night working with McGovern. He was loaded down with blankets and sweaters upon his return to his training quarters and also a regular sweat bath. Corbett admits that he has to work hard to reduce to the required weight of 127 pounds, but claims that he will be in good condition on the night of the fight.

McGovern is well at the weight required and is not worrying at all about his condition in fact he is his champion. He will be fit to fight the battle of his life next Tuesday night. As yet, no referee has been selected, but it is thought that Eddie Grady will be chosen.

SEVERE ATTACK OF GRIP

Cured by One Bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"When I had an attack of the grip last winter (the second one) I actually cured myself with one bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I was so Frank W. Perry, editor of the Enterprise, Shortsville, N. Y. This is the honest truth. I at times kept from coughing myself to pieces by taking a teaspoonful of this remedy, and when the coughing spell would come on at night I would take a dose and it seemed that in the briefest interval the cough would pass off and I would go to sleep perfectly free from cough and its accompanying pains. To say that the remedy acted as a most agreeable surprise is putting it very mildly. I had no idea that it would cure me so quickly of the grip, simply because I had never tried it for such a purpose, but it did, and it seemed with the second attack of the grip, the remedy caused it to not only be of less duration, but the pains were far less severe and I had not used the contents of one bottle before Mr. Grip had bid me adieu. For sale by Osgood Bros., Seventh and Broadway."

HART IS AGAINST THE RIVAL LEAGUE.

SAYS THAT HE WILL NOT LEND HIS SUPPORT TO THE OPPOSITION.

James A. Hart, president of the Chicago National League Club and one of the oldest baseball men of the times, will not lend his support to the opposition league and further, he declares that their plan of action is wrong. He believes that the opposition league will not finish out the season for the reason that the salaries offered are all out of proportion and the jump from town to town too long.

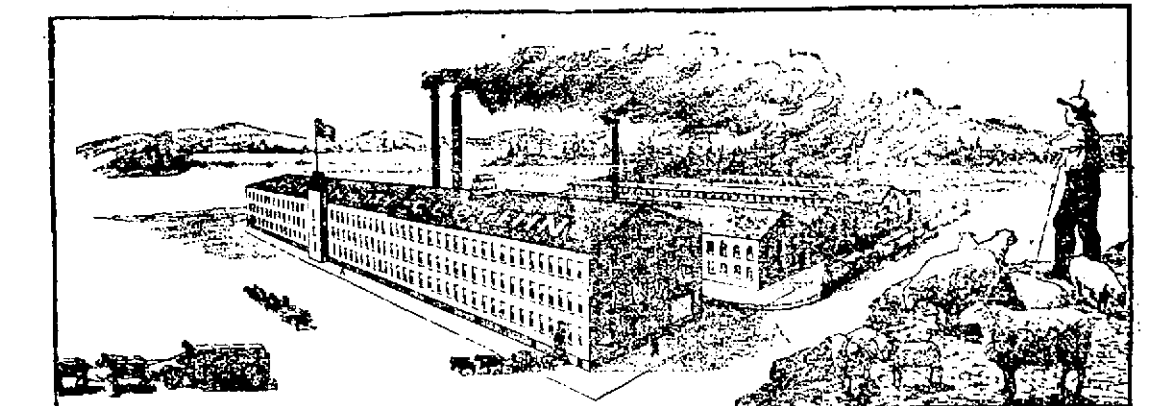

"Organized baseball that will make players respect contracts is what the game needs," said President Hart, "but organized baseball that blacklists players for not jumping their contracts will never live. It is founded on a principle that is wrong. I for one will not visit the Minor League Association which is making the light on the Coast League here."

Anti Trust Prices

A trust has been formed against THE OWL DRUG CO. A trust to rob the sickroom. A combination to grab life away from the lips of the ill and disabled. A merger with the motto to force up the price of life, "To wage a determined war on cut rate drug stores," says its members. To wage war on "THE OWL" in other words. This is "THE OWL'S" reply. Let the war come, we will never enter into a combination to make life and health expensive. We will continue to sell medicines at our cut rates regardless of every one. These are a few of our cut prices.

BANKHEAD'S BLUNDER.

Captain Hobson's resignation from the Navy promises to give the Honorable John H. Bankhead, Congressman from the Sixth Alabama district, more trouble than if he had been allowed to go on the retired list as he desired to do. Many circumstances go to substantiate Hobson's charge that Bankhead prevented the passage of the bill retiring the hero of the Merrimac, a charge that is now disproved by Bankhead's qualified denial. Bankhead grounds his defense on the fact that he was not a member of the Naval Committee, and that the bill failed to pass because the committee did not favorably report it for passage.

Mr. Bankhead was not accused of being a member of the Naval Committee or of openly opposing the bill on the floor of the House. But he is accused of using his personal influence with his Democratic colleagues to prevent the bill being favorably reported, and this he has never denied. He is not the first politician detected in the perpetration of scurvy tricks, who attempted to wriggle out by denying something else and ignoring the real charge. It is susceptible of absolute proof that Bankhead privately importuned his Democratic associates not to let Hobson be retired on the ground that it would endanger his (Bankhead's) seat in Congress, some of Hobson's enthusiastic friends in Alabama having suggested him as a candidate.

Bankhead reasoned that if Hobson was prevented from retiring he would remain in the Navy, but he discovered that his selfish injustice has had exactly the opposite effect. Hobson has resigned, and has sent every elector in the Sixth Alabama district (in which Hobson lives) a personal letter detailing the manner in which Bankhead defeated the bill for his retirement. Hobson's friends and admirers are up in arms against Bankhead, and will oppose him to the bitter end for re-election whether Hobson is a candidate or not. As Bankhead is not a man of impressive ability or exalted character, he is not too highly regarded in his district, and his defeat is not improbable.

Senator Morgan put the bill for Hobson's retirement through the Senate, but Bankhead, who represents the district and State in the House, refused to have anything to do with it, and intrigued successfully to kill it in committee. His selfish jealousy prompted him to do a grievous wrong to a gallant officer, which shows that a long experience in Congress does not lengthen a foot rule to the yard measure. Hobson was not retired by the Naval Board because the trouble with his eyes had not yet disabled him, and the law does not permit an officer to be retired till disability has actually taken place.

The Supervisors of Sacramento county are doing their regular spring plowing—in the public roads, and the Bee says it does not know what for unless it is to turn the people's money under. The Bee must be mistaken. The Supervisors of Sacramento have been accused of many things, but this is the first time we ever heard of their turning money under. The Sacramento practice of plowing the public roads every spring remains a dark mystery.

It will be observed that Grover Cleveland postponed his visit to Colorado until after the State had begun to vote for sound money. The operations of the beef trust are not extended to giving credit at the local butcher shops. It is too busy putting up prices.

The first and second Rhodes South African scholarships at Oxford have been awarded to graduates from the Jesuit college at Bulawayo, Rhodesia. One name mentioned is that of Francis Conway, son of a South African engineer. The other winner is a German boy, whose father is in the English army.

Vienna is the great center of the mercantile trade, and many pipes are carved there. The raw material is in odd shapes, and much ingenuity is needed so that none is wasted. The rough block is soaked in water before it is worked, so that it can be made soft, and when the carving is finished the pipe is polished with fine sand paper, and later with glass.

Reports from a Venice state that an English syndicate has made a proposition to introduce electric launches to replace the romantic gondolas, and that this is being seriously considered. The next move will be for an American firm to offer to filter the water in the canals, and this would bring the city up to date and remove much of the unnecessary picturesque.

Antiquaries are baffled in their attempts to ascertain when sausages first became an article of human consumption. We know at least that among the ancient Greeks sausages, called "sallantes" and "chorial," were a common article of diet, and even schoolboys know, or ought to know, that sausages, black puddings and sausage rolls appear in the comedies of Aristophanes.—London Telegraph.

Lord Kitchener, like every one else, has certain tastes and fancies, and one point on which he is most particular is the appearance of his dinner table and household equipments generally. Among other items dispatched by his order to grace the dinner table were a beautiful glass dinner set, of finest cut glass, embellished with the viscount's coronet and with "K" beautifully embossed in gold enameling.

The most valuable piece of railroad track in the country lies in the yards at St. Louis. The Iron Mountain and the Missouri Pacific are Gould properties, but at only one point are they connected, and that is by a stretch of track less than two miles long. When Jay Gould died he willed this little track to his daughter, Helen, and she owns every rail and spike in it. The transfer charges between the two roads over this track pay her $25,000 a year. Miss Gould does not have to keep up the track, furnish cars, men or anything else. All that is done by the roads using the track and they must keep the track in repair. It is said to be the best piece of paying track in the world.

The conviction that the country is going ahead too fast is at the root of much of the serious opposition with which the Japanese government is now meeting. The Kure dock-yard, for example, is on a scale fitted for the building of line of battle ships, and yet there is absolutely no chance of its getting any but very small vessels for a long time to come.

The great iron foundry in Walsoken, also, which has already cost the government 20,000,000 yen ($16,000,000) and is sure to cost more, is a dismal failure and is consequently about to be sold to private capitalists. There is also a reaction against the present craze for building enormous fortifications along the sea coast and fitting them with costly pieces of artillery. It is recognized that this money had very much better be spent on ships.—Railroad Gazette.

There never was any doubt in the mind of the public that there was a combination of packers to control meat prices, but the surprising thing is that the courts should have been able to discover it by a judicial inquiry.—Kansas City Times.

WITH THE BOOKMEN.

The sources of the names used in fiction, notes the New York Tribune, have often stirred the student to investigation, but as a rule he has confined himself to the masters and has sought to discover some esoteric reason for the choice of the names he has hunted down. Latterly this subject has been neglected, but it might be worth while for some one to take it up again. By what processes do contemporary novelists dealing with modern life arrive at the names which they use? In a great many cases it would seem as if they gave little thought to the matter, using the first names entering their minds, with no attempt to make them fit the characters for whom they are borrowed. Possibly this is the wisest plan. The novelist who tries too hard to give one of his characters a really expressive name is apt to give the impression that he is feebly imitating Dickens. The only author of the day we know who, while avoiding the Dickens system, still seems to find for his characters names that somehow seem to belong to them is Henry James. His new book of short stories, "The Better Sort," is full of good names, Stuart Strath, Mrs. Brash, Maud Blessingbourne, Mrs. Dyott, Lady Wainbridge, Mrs. Cavenham, Howard Bight, Morris Gedge, May Bartram, John Marcher, Lady Gwyther, Lady Beldonnald, all have sufficient individuality, yet not one of them carries undue emphasis. In the stories they seem very Jamesian, but very natural, and even when detached from the text they convey the same impression. To be as successful in this matter as Mr. James is, one must have a gift for the right choice. The saddest of the unfortunates who have a gift for making the wrong one are those who still cling to the tradition of Ouida and dot their pages with Vavasours, Vandeleurs, Dalrymples, Murrels, and so on.

Mrs. Gertrude Atherton publishes a volume entitled "A Few of Hamilton's Letters," and adds an account of the great hurricane of 1772 which Hamilton wrote to his father, and which was found in an old West Indian paper. In terror the scene seems to have rivaled the recent eruptions.

It began about dusk, at north, and raged very violently till 10 o'clock. Then ensued a sudden and unexpected interval, which lasted about an hour. Meanwhile the wind was shifting round to the southwest point, from whence it returned with redoubled fury and continued so till near 3 o'clock in the morning. Good God! what horror and destruction—it is impossible for me to describe, or you to form an idea of it. It seems as if a total dissolution of nature was taking place. The roaring of the sea and wind—fiery meteors flying about in the air—the prodigious glare of almost perpetual lightning—the crash of the falling houses—and the ear-piercing shrieks of the distressed, were sufficient to strike astonishment into angels. A great part of the buildings throughout the island are leveled to the ground—almost all the rest very much shattered—several persons killed and numbers utterly ruined—whose families running about the streets unknowing where to find a place of shelter—the sick exposed to the keenness of water and air—without bed to lie upon—or a dry covering to their bodies—our harbor is entirely bare. In a word, misery in all its most hideous shapes spread over the whole face of the country. A strong smell of gunpowder added somewhat to the terrors of the night; and it was observed that the rain was surprisingly salt. Indeed, the water is so brackish and full of sulphur that there is hardly any drinking it.

Here's a little item of news which should make the mouths of authors water. Dr. Conan Doyle has just entered into a contract by which he will receive the largest sum that has ever been paid to any author for a work. English and American magazines have jointly agreed to pay him $1,800 ($2,000) each for twelve stories of ten thousand words each. This payment is at the rate of $150 ($200) per thousand words. No other author receives more than $50 ($50) per thousand words, so that from the rate of payment now agreed to be made to Dr. Doyle some appreciation of the popularity of his work can be gained.

A well-known novelist, says the London Outlook, tells an amusing story of his father, an English rector, and Sir Henry Thompson, the surgeon and authority on food. Sir Henry was called in and prescribed a certain diet, particularly warning the patient against apple tart, for which the reverend gentleman had a great partiality. "Oh, but, Sir Henry," pleaded the patient, "mayn't I have a little—just on Sunday? We always have it for dinner then." "Sir," replied Sir Henry in severe tones, "do you imagine that your stomach is any different on Sunday from what it is on other days—Good morning."

Scotland is naturally proud of Robert Burns, observes the London Sphere. It has not as yet, I think, claimed that Burns was as great a man as Shakespeare, but James Dewar of Belfast sends me a claim for Burns that has an interest of its own. It is that more people pay an annual visit to the places associated with Burns than pay an annual visit to the places associated with Shakespeare. Here are the figures that Mr. Dewar supplies. They are for one year:

Shakespeare's Shrine.
Shakespeare's house at Stratford.	31,742
Shakespeare's museum at Stratford	20,143
Shakespeare's tomb in Stratford church.	25,731
Ann Hathaway's cottage	13,622
Total.	91,275
Burns's Shrine.
Burns's birthplace at Ayr.	50,092
Burns's monument on the banks of the Doon	85,153
Total.	135,245

This shows, as Mr. Dewar proudly reminds me, that 24,975 more people did homage to Burns than did homage to Shakespeare by way of pilgrimages in the year.

Ice cream by quart he ate in life—'Twas his insensate whim; So when he died his weeping wife Said sadly, "Crem-ate him!"—New York Sun.

A MAGNIFICENT RECEPTION TO BE GIVEN PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

De Young for Commissioner to St. Louis—Street Car Situation—Story About Huntington—Congressional Gossip

BY GEORGE F. HATTON

(Special to the Tribune.)
SAN FRANCISCO, March 28.—The preparations being made by the Citizens' Committee for the reception of President Roosevelt indicate that the arrangements and festivities in his honor will be as elaborate as the time and opportunity will permit. Expense is certainly not going to be a deterrent in any way, for the business men who have prospered so exceedingly under the last two Republican administrations seem willing to go down deep into their pockets to furnish the funds necessary to make the proper showing for the occasion.

No better man could have been selected for the Chairmanship of the Committee than M. H. De Young, for he has infinite resources for a project of this kind. The executive ability that marked his successful handling of the Midwinter Fair and that has in fact been applied to his entire business career, stands him well now, and the citizens of San Francisco can rest confident that nothing will be left undone to assure success to the local demonstration.

President Roosevelt is evidently determined to put in some strong political blows during his "around the clock" for his itinerary shows a carefully planned arrangement to bring him personally in touch with the voting strength of the country. Roosevelt's program is not merely one that will secure him the nomination at the hands of the politicians—he is also bent on working up a sentiment for himself that will offset as far as possible the work that is being done in behalf of a Democratic-Labor Combination.

As far as the Republican nomination is concerned, Roosevelt appears to have it at his mercy. Every now and then dispatches make the rounds of the papers, telling of booms for Senator Hanna, for President but these outside spurts appear to have no actual strength behind them and flatten out about as quickly as they spring into existence. With Platt of New York, Quay of Pennsylvania and the other Republican leaders of the Atlantic States all seemingly determined to uphold the destinies of Roosevelt, there seems little chance for anyone to even squeeze in on the side and if things run along as they are at present, Roosevelt will carry off the nomination as easily as McKinley secured it last time.

There is some talk of putting up a Western man for Vice-President so as to make a combination of the far East and the far West but the second place on the ticket is not likely to receive any serious consideration just yet and the speculation will be confined to those interested in the various individuals who may be figuring in that regard. It will be remembered that Irving M. Scott was an aspirant to the Vice-Presidency two years ago and perhaps may be ambitious in that direction again this time, though his hopes are not in good shape to be realized, owing to the entanglements in which he became beset in California politics last winter.

DE YOUNG FOR COMMISSIONER.

Referring again to M. H. De Young and the Roosevelt reception, the success he is about to achieve in that regard will doubtless be another stepping-stone in a new direction. The recently adjourned session of the Legislature appropriated $100,000 for a California State exhibit at St. Louis, and prominently brought to the front for the Commissionship. Governor Landee, who has the appointing power, is said to look favorably upon De Young for the position for the Governor has in mind the prominence secured for the State at the time of the World's Fair in Chicago and knows there is no one better qualified to handle Western interests.

J. Aubrey Jones of Oakland is another aspirant for a St. Louis Commissionship. He says he is making his fight for the position on strictly business lines and not political ones, and his ambitions have met with the approval of the Sacramento Bee, Stockton Mail and other interior newspapers.

As soon as the Governor disposes of the Commissionship, the work of preparing for the State Exhibit will be commenced as there is much to be done in that regard and not too much time in which to accomplish it. However, there will doubtless be more hurry on the scene this year than there was when the exhibits were collected for the Paris Fair, for it will be recalled that W. H. Mills, representing the Southern Pacific and these handling the State work got into a snarl that resulted in their breaking apart and maintaining two separate shows at the French capital.

THE STREET CAR SITUATION.

The street car troubles appear to be quieting down somewhat although a shadow still hangs over the scene in the form of the demand for $2 a day wages. The other difficulties have been practically disposed of with the balance somewhat in favor of the United Railroads, though the men will naturally not openly admit this. The fact is, however, that they found that public sympathy was not with them in some of the demands they were making and it is a tribute to the sagacity and shrewdness of their leaders that they backed water when they found the way sentiment was running. Without general approval or at least sympathy, a strike could not be very effective and Richard Cornelius and the other principals in the union quickly decided not to press matters that seemed to arouse public criticism.

An interesting story comes up from the South in this connection. H. E. Huntington has poured an immense fortune in the street car system of Los Angeles County and has placed its management in the hands of some of the most capable railroad men in the country. Now in the southern city, organized labor has never succeeded in taking very firm root. Time and again the hosts of capital and toll have clashed with the result that the tide of victory always turned against the wage-earners, one of the most notable instances of the kind being the fight long maintained by the Los Angeles Times against the union printers.

During the last State campaign when the labor strength was asserting itself all over the State, the dwellers in the Southland laughed at the idea that the union vote could have any effect there, and that they were correct in their surmises was shown when the ballots were counted, for the labor issue had seemingly cut no figure at all south of Tehachapi.

When recently, therefore, the street car union of San Francisco sent delegates to Los Angeles to organize the operatives on the Huntington lines, the managers of that system decided to take time by the forelock and crush out the possibilities of anything happening such as occurred here. Every effort has, therefore, been centered upon preventing the delegates from getting the men together, but up comes the news that the union has already got a big start upon the proposition and that within a very few days, it is expected that the Los Angeles branch will be strong enough to assert itself. H. E. Huntington will not relish this sort of thing very much, for whereas a strike up here only affects dividends in a comparatively small amount to each stockholder, a demand for an advance in wages in Los Angeles would mean, perhaps, hundreds of thousands of dollars annually out of his individual pocket.

CHATTING ABOUT CONGRESS.

With so many Congressmen dropping in and out of town nowadays, it is not surprising that the plans for the next election are being considered. A Congressman is singularly unfortunate in this respect, for, as his term of office is only two years, he has scarcely got one fight off his hands before he has to prepare for another one.

The three districts wrested away from the Republicans last fall—the Second, Fourth and Fifth—are, naturally enough, going to be the principal battlegrounds next time and quiet work has already started up in all three of them. The Second District is regarded with more fear than the other two by the Republican leaders. In the first place, the voters in that particular district have a knack of giving large majorities for whoever represents them at Washington, regardless of his party affiliations. De Vries, for example, became invulnerable in it and Combs would have been so had it not been for the labor issue that caught him in a crossfire last November and swept him to defeat.

Then again, Theodore Bell of Napa, the incumbent, has the reputation of being a rascal. As District Attorney of Napa County, he built up a prestige that meant much to him last winter and when he gets to Washington he is sure to skirmish around and endeavor to popularize himself with the voters in his district. That Bell will be a hard man to beat two years from now is conceded by the Republicans, and that is why they are looking over the ground so carefully.

Frank Combs is said to be willing to run again if he gets the right kind of encouragement. When he was defeated at the polls his first determination was to retire from politics altogether, but, some-

WON A BEAU.

Plumped Up and Was Advanced $10 Per Month.

Not every one has the sound, sturdy strength of character to tell the honest truth about themselves. The following was written by a lady who calls herself an "old maid," and the way coffee treated her is certainly interesting.

She says: "I was a coffee drinker and gradually became more and more irritable and nervous in the school room. My complexion was sallow and sickly, and as I look back now I know I developed into a very unpopuliar and disagreeable person. In fact, I had little prospect of keeping my position last year. Not only that but I failed to pass the required examinations. This latter fact aroused me to the knowledge that coffee was poisoning my brain and slowly destroying my memory and reason."

"My sister had quit the use of coffee in her family and adopted Postum, and had been strongly urging that I do likewise. One day I started in, that was a red letter day for me. I began sleeping sound at night instead of lying awake half the time, and the change in my feelings from nervousness and irritability to comfort, peace and content cannot be told in words."

"I had been a trembling broken-down, nervous, and I felt an ugly, old maid, but after my restful sleep, increased strength of brain and body instead of weakness and illness, I slowly changed in my whole appearance. Began to plump up, my complexion changed from a sallow, muddy looking skin to a fresh pink and white, as nice as when I was 18."

"I took another examination and passed it easily. My high grades together with the improved work in the school and my changed character caused the Trustees to raise my salary ten dollars a month, and I will tell you a secret. Whether it was an increased reputation for good sense, or for some other reason, one of the best citizens of the town, a widower, has made a little contract with me, and will be carried out some of these days, I shan't tell when."

"Don't you think I ought to say good things about Postum, and do you think I will ever get back to coffee drinking?" Name of this lady will be given on application to Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich.

how, those who once sit in Congress always want to go back again and he now feels somewhat different to what he did when he left for the East last November. He has by no means decided to be a candidate again, but rather occupies the position of being willing to run if it is thought a good party idea to put him in the fight. Combs figures that as the next election will be in a Presidential year, the Republican tidal wave that seems sure to pass through California, will carry the Congressmen to victory on its crest.

Duncan McKinlay is willing to run if Combs decides to keep out of the fight. McKinlay hails from Sonoma County and is well known throughout the district, having stumped it many times, in various campaigns. What he considers would be a trump card in his favor is his affiliations with labor. He started out life as a member of one of the unions and has maintained his standing with the labor people ever since, in fact, he was used last campaign as the best medium to get Republican ideas into the wage-earners' camps. As it was the labor vote that beat Combs, McKinlay figures that with it at his back, added to the normal Republican strength of the district, his victory would be certain, could he but secure the nomination.

As another illustration of the hypnotic attraction of Congressional life, ex-Congressman J. A. Barham of Santa Rosa wants to run again. After he retired some years ago, he made the announcement that he was through with politics forever and intended to devote himself to his law practice, and it was generally understood that the limelight had been turned off him permanently. However, there is no questioning his desire to get into the fight again this time, for those who are fishing quietly around for the nomination have bobbed into his lines more than once.

There was some talk for awhile that Secretary of State Curry, who is now a legal resident of Sacramento, would try for Congress, but that seems to be all ended. Neither is it likely that Frank Ryan will get into the fight again, while as for Judge Hart's supposed ambitions in that direction, he put an effective quietus upon the rumors long ago by declaring himself positively out of the contest.

There is a Sacramento man in sight, though, who is a strong possibility for the nomination—Senator Robert Devlin. Should he go after it there is little doubt that he would be placed upon the ticket, for the machinery of his home county is at his back and he also has powerful affiliations in other parts of the district. Devlin, however, is not so sure that he wants to go to Congress. He has a lucrative and steadily-increasing law practice and he hesitates about leaving it aside for the small salary of $5,000 that goes with the title of Congressman. He is weighing the proposition in the balance very seriously just now and will, of course, come to a conclusion soon, but to not to keep any obstacles in the way of the other candidates, in case he decides to keep out of the contest himself.

KAHN AND LIVERNASH.

In the Fourth district but little can be figured as yet as with the Kahn-Livernash contest pending before Congress, some party issues may become involved that would render it imperative to give the nomination to Kahn again, no matter what else happened. In any event, Kahn will be an aspirant for the honors, and a Congressional career appeals to him more than anything else in which he has embarked of late years.

Many are talking of Sam Shortridge as an available candidate in the Fourth, and say that it furnishes him the right kind of stepping stone with which to reach the Senatorial seat he has sought so long. Shortridge's name is being mentioned, too, as that of a likely candidate for the Mayanville nomination this fall, though he will probably decline to make a local fight; he would not two years ago, and the same reasons exist now that he presented them.

Livernash will be the man the Republicans will have to beat, for with Hearst and the Examiner at his back, he will have no difficulty landing the nomination. The way he is catering constantly to the labor vote proves that he will be a formidable foe for any one, and of course, if Kahn should meet him at the polls once more and be defeated for the second time, that would mean the retirement of Kahn from the scene for many a day. The friends of Kahn are already at work, therefore, on a doubtless concerted program to boom Kahn and to undermine Livernash's strength in any and every way they can.

FISK IN THE FIFTH.

Speaker Arthur Fisk is daily becoming a more and more pronounced candidate in the Fifth district, formerly represented by Loud. He is not the only candidate, for Senator Eddie Wolfe has long cherished ambitions to go to Congress, and this time intends to make a stronger bid than ever. The way things look now, though, Fisk has the advantage of local popularity in his favor, for he will undoubtedly have the new Republican League with him, and Wolfe cannot afford to go with the other end of the same and tie up with Kelly and Burns.

Senator Charles M. Shortridge has also got the Congressional bug in his head, and wants to get the backing of local organizations and the backing of the district. Shortridge has apparently got the hardest row to hoe of all, for he fought the Hays brothers of San Jose to a finish last fall, making the issue a personal one on the stump. Although peace has been proclaimed between the Hays people and some of Shortridge's staunchest supporters this end, it does not seem possible that they would get behind Shortridge, and with a divided delegation he would not have a ghost of a chance.

As a matter of fact, Fisk is in a better position to get the Hays influence than is any other candidate. J. O. Hays is in training for Governor to succeed Pardee four years hence and naturally enough is doing politics where the strength lies in the State. If the controlling elements want Fisk, therefore, as they apparently will, it should not prove a very hard task to interest the Hays faction in his behalf, after which all would be smooth sailing, for a candidate backed by the local machine at this end and the power that he at the other would prove invincible.

PERSONAL NOTES.

Senator Greenwell of Santa Barbara is passing a few days in town, undergoing treatment for his eyes.

Senator Pendleton was in town during the week, returning to Los Angeles on Thursday's Owl.

J. C. Sharnsworth of Visalia, who ran for the Democratic ticket for Supreme Justice last fall, is in the city.

CARRIE NATION TO RETURN.

SHE WILL NOW SPEAK UNDER TEMPERANCE SOCIETY AUSPICES.

Carrie Nation of Kansas, the saloon smasher is about to visit Northern California. This time she will appear under the auspices of temperance organizations. Fresno and San Jose Prohibition Alliances are preparing for her in those cities and dates have been set for May 31 and June 1 respectively. Oakland Alliance is also considering a meeting for her. The rallies in the South under the N. C. T. U. have been very largely attended.

The first intercollegiate prohibition oratorical contest for California is to be held in Oakland in the middle of April. Clifford Smith will represent the University of California. V. F. Hughes, California College and J. D. Kayendall the University of the Pacific. One from Stanford University has not yet been named. In the afternoon of the same day a convention of the different leagues will be held to elect new State officers and the quarterly session of the Bay District Prohibition Alliance will also meet. Much interest in the affair is being aroused. The winner of the contest will go to Oregon in May to participate in the interstate contest at Corvallis.

Prof. Lough and wife, and James L. Hilmrod are meeting with continued success in their field of work. The former, Professor Lough and wife, who both sing and speak, are drawing large and enthusiastic audiences. They finish their work in California on the 31st. Hilmrod goes to Humboldt county on the 8th for a month's work. The Prohibition Alliance in that county are making ready for county prohibition and expect to win.

There is an increasing amount of work being done by the various county organizations and Prohibition Alliances. Fresno, Alameda, Los Angeles and Santa Clara county committees are especially active and are planning systematic and continuous work in each. The Good Templars are quite flourishing also and through Capt. W. C. Dutton's visit to the coast a large increase in membership is expected.

RUBEROID ROOFING.

A WONDERFULLY SUCCESSFUL SUBSTITUTE FOR SHINGLES AND TIN ROOFS.

The unprecedented demand for building material of all kinds which has existed in this city recently has been the means of introducing a number of very desirable substitutes for the ordinary material. The most remarkable innovation is a patented roofing which has been successfully used in various parts of the world but until recently unknown on this coast. It is known as "Ruberoïd Roofing" and promises to be a very important factor in future building operations.

A recent test of Ruberoïd Roofing has demonstrated thoroughly its efficiency in withstanding all sorts and conditions of weather and all variations of temperature. It resists alkalis, the attacks of water, heat, cold, acids, alkalis, gases, etc., and is equally adaptable on either a light or temporary structure or a sky scraper of brick, stone or iron. It has been amply shown that Ruberoïd is superior to common tar and other prepared roofing and also that it holds superior conditions. When it receives its additional outside coating, the roofing is practically indestructible. In color it is dark gray, and presents a smooth surface, quite similar to slate when laid, and can be painted in all colors when desired. Ruberoïd Roofing is easily laid and is fully as effective on sloping as on flat roofs. It is made in 1, 2 and 3 ply, the two first mentioned weights being adapted to light structures of all classes. The 3 ply is made to withstand the very severest use on large roof surfaces and on buildings exposed to great heat or to chemical action, such as large buildings, chemical works, power factories, etc. It will last longer than tin, iron, shingles or any other prepared roofing and is ready when sold. It can be walked upon without injury and is tasteless, rainwater running from a Ruberoïd roof being sweet and clear and in as pure a condition as when it fell from the heavens.

Its remarkable toughness was convincingly demonstrated at the Paris, Brussels and Pan-American exhibitions, where it was used as a flooring in the main halls and on the stairways. Ruberoïd Roofing has received the gold medal of highest award at all the large industrial exhibitions throughout the world and for the purpose for which it is manufactured is unequalled. Ruberoïd Roofing is handled exclusively in Oakland by the Oakland Paper Co., 1212 Broadway, where samples will be shown and further information given.

SQUAW STABS A HALFBREED.

PLEASANTON ABORIGINAL MAIDEN MAKES BLOOD SECOND TIME.

An Indian girl named Chona, stabbed a half-breed man at Indian Camp, Friday morning.

This girl has a bad reputation, as only about a year ago she cut a man, and was put in jail for some time.

She is in jail here now, and will remain until it can be ascertained how badly the man is hurt.

The victim was cut in the back and in the side. The doctors think he is quite seriously injured.

TO ENTERTAIN HER PROTEGES.

Mrs. F. M. Smith will entertain to-day the fifty young girls who are residents of her cottages. Mrs. Smith does not wish these young girls to feel that they are recipients of her bounty, but that they are the guests of her care. There will be a delicious luncheon, with games and all sort of amusements in the big grounds—believe it is some sort of anniversary or annual meeting of the directors, who share with Mrs. Smith some of her pleasant responsibilities. Mrs. Smith has but lately returned from Southern California, where she went for a brief rest after the social activities of the winter.

Preparations for the great annual May Day Fete are actively going on. The various amusements and occupations have been apportioned among many Oakland charities and each one is busy selling tickets, so you may as well buy your tickets of the first one who asks you—you will surely be compelled to buy. This year the money will be more widely distributed than ever before among many worthy charities. I hope that the day may be fine and the crowd large for the sake of the ladies who are working so very hard for the success of the fete.

Some time in May the Smiths, with Miss Marion Smith and the Misses Burdge, will leave for Shelter Island. They intend to entertain much on their yacht this year and will take many trips on Long Island Sound. They are all exceedingly fond of the water and on it escape the sweltering days of the Eastern summer. They will install as chef Mary Hallahan, whose culinary art we have good reason to know. Miss Marion Smith is an accomplished yachtswoman and has won prizes and much praise for her skill along nautical lines.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY ENTERTAINMENTS.

Mrs. J. A. Johnson entertained delightfully at cards on March 13. The favors took the form of shamrocks and everything was in green, in honor of St. Patrick's Day. Some pretty spring hats were in evidence, but why, I wonder, do some of us remove our chapeaux at card afternoons? It is easier for the head, but it is not the proper thing. Hats are the rule for luncheons and all afternoon entertainments and gloves even should be worn to the luncheon table and should only be removed when one is seated at table, just as the long gloves at dinner are not removed or turned back until one is seated. The fun is laid beside the plate at dinner, but the gloves, if entirely removed, are laid in the lap, and many women tuck the hands of the glove inside the wrist and keep the arm covered. But with a pretty arm, no matter how short the sleeve, this is surely not necessary, and it makes the arm very clumsy at the wrist.

At the M. J. Layman's the other evening the meeting of the Crystal Card Club took the form of a St. Patrick's Day celebration also.

But the cleverest thing I have heard of in the way of St. Patrick's Day entertainments was the dinner given by Mrs. Horace Blanchard Chase, who was Miss McKinsty, as a farewell to Miss Laura McKinsty, who left for Europe with Mrs. Henry Scott last Saturday. It was a dinner for ladies only and fifteen sat at the table on St. Patrick's night. The decorations were all in green, of course, maiden hair and asparagus and shamrock. On the plate rail in the dining-room were masks of old Irishmen's faces, with clay pipes stuck in the open mouths under the long upper lips.

The almonds were in little black plug hats, with pipes stuck at the side, and the name cards were Irish faces with Irish verses and shamrocks. Each guest was requested to appear in Irish costume and they came. Mrs. Jimmie Robinson as a green Carmichaela with plaid stockings. Mrs. Russell Wilson in a red and white parted low over her forehead. Mrs. Downey Harvey as a pretty Irish colleen, Miss Hager as an Irish lass—each one of the fifteen in some appropriate costume. Miss McKinsty was the only one in evening dress. As there were no men there were some very funny Irish songs, break-downs and songs. Altogether it was jolly and as each guest was expected to contribute to the entertainment, the variety proved most interesting, especially as Mrs. Chase never plans anything which is dull. Miss McKinsty will long remember this novel dinner, as will every one who was there.

People are saying "Lucky Miss McKinsty" to be going to Europe, but I say "Lucky Mrs. Scott" to have secured so delightful and attractive a traveling companion. As I told you before, they expect to be gone not less than ten months and very likely longer. In the meantime Mrs. Henry Scott has been entertaining Admiral Schley at has extended an invitation to President Roosevelt when the latter is here in the spring. But I believe that entertainment will take place at the Burren Club.

IN HONOR OF MR. STETSON'S BIRTHDAY.

Mr. James Stetson, familiarly known to a large circle of relatives and friends as "Uncle James," celebrated the seventy-second anniversary of his birth this week by giving a big family dinner, to which all the relatives from far and near were gathered. Unfortunately Mr. and Mrs. Oxnard, daughter and son-in-law, are in Europe, but with these exceptions all the relatives were there. Mr. Stetson has recently, that is within the last three years, taken to himself a wife much younger than himself, but he does not seem less dear to his family on that account. The birthday cake with candles was something unique.

MRS. CRAFT'S LUNCHEON.

Invitations are out for a large luncheon to be given by Mrs. R. C. Craft in honor of two cousins who are visiting her from the East. Mrs. William Gibbons of Philadelphia and Mrs. Walter L. Wiley of Peoria, Illinois. Mrs. Wiley is the guest of her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Read of 2039 Alameda avenue, Alameda, and will remain here for some months. Mrs. Gibbons has been traveling slowly through Southern California, seeing the sights and stopping at all important points, and will be Mrs. Craft's guest for some weeks. Mrs. Craft's invited guests are: Mrs. Frank P. Deering, Mrs. Lawson Adams Jr., Mrs. E. B. Davis, Mrs. Charles L. Rhodes, Mrs. M. W. Backus, Mrs. Howard Bray, Mrs. George Hammer, Mrs. William Gibbons, Mrs. Walter Wiley, Mrs. Coolbaugh, Mrs. Louise Getchell, Mrs. J. A. Johnson, Mrs. Emil Nussbaumer, Mrs. J. W. Scott, Mrs. Welles Whitmore, Mrs. George B. Gray, Mrs. F. W. Read, Mrs. Charles H. Downey, Mrs. E. E. Wade, Mrs. Gilbert Curtiss, Mrs. M. J. Layman, Dr. Pauline Nussbaumer, Mrs. Henry Schulze, Mrs. John D. French and Mrs. Charles D. Pierce.

After luncheon, which is at 1 o'clock, six-handed euchre will be played.

SIR KNIGHTS ENTERTAINED.

On Tuesday evening Oakland was full of visiting Sir Knights, Golden Gate Commandery being entertained and banqueting by Oakland Commandery. The table must have been a brilliant sight. The speeches, I'm told, were exceedingly good.

CALIFORNIANS IN THE CURRENT MAGAZINE.

Californians still keep up their position in the current magazines. Juliet Wilbur Tompkins and Mabel Claire Craft have stories in the April number of Everybody's and Margaret Collier Graham is in the April Century.

ILLNESS OF MRS. CHARLES RHODES.

Mrs. Charles L. Rhodes, wife of a Honolulu publisher has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. M. W. Backus of Eleventh avenue, East Oakland, for some weeks. Mrs. Rhodes is now seriously ill at Mrs. Backus' home, and all the entertainments in her honor have been called off.

BACK FROM HONOLULU.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Russell are back from Honolulu where they have spent the last few years and are residing again in Hayward where they formerly lived. Mr. Russell was very successful in establishing a law practice in Honolulu, having been associated with Paul Newman, but the recent death of Mrs. Russell, while on a visit to her son in the islands, caused him to change his residence and come home to look after his property interests.

Mrs. Russell owned a large amount of fruit farm property near Hayward and the station of Russell's, and Mr. Russell and his brother, who is an orchardist of Hayward, are the only heirs.

Mrs. Russell is a sister of Mrs. Frank C. Jordan.

SOCIAL NOTES OF INTEREST.

Mrs. Ritchie Livingston Dunn of whom we speak as Gertrude Allen Wither, has sent out cards for the Fourth Fridays at 2005 Lyon street. Mrs. Dunn's mother, Mrs. Costigan, spends much time with her. She has a charming home and is prettier than ever.

Mrs. F. W. Read of 2039 Alameda avenue, has sent out cards for an "at home" on March 25th from two until five. The affair is in honor of Mrs. Walter L. Wiley.

Mrs. J. Walter Scott will entertain at an afternoon at hearts during the second week in April. The affair is in honor of Mrs. Frank Prentiss Deering.

MARRIAGE OF MISS COLEMAN.

Announcements have been received of the marriage of Miss Florence Nightingale Coleman with Mr. Charles Albert Noble on Tuesday, March 24th. Mrs. Noble is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Coleman, Mr. Coleman being the mining man.

They are wealthy people and she is a charming young woman who has had the advantages of foreign travel and several winters in society abroad.

"Charlie" Noble as his Berkeley friends call him, is a professor in his Alma Mater and a delightful fellow, liked by everyone.

The wedding was a small and quiet affair as most of the Lenten nuptials are of necessity. It was a home wedding with only half a hundred guests and Professor and Mrs. Noble have gone on a wedding trip, none knows whither.

They will return to Berkeley about the middle of April and have secured a house at 2731 Durant avenue.

They will be at home on the first and second Tuesdays after August 1st, when the college world begins anew.

A wedding which will not be quiet, however, is that of Miss Kate Crocker Gunn who will be married to Mr. Charles Morrison Woods on the evening of April 14th at St. Luke's Church. Miss Gunn is the pretty daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James O'Brien Gunn and fashionable St. Luke's will be crowded. There will be a reception afterward at the house.

A HONEYED HONEYMOON.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sears Bates (Gladys Merrill) are spending their honeymoon in a novel and quiet manner at the Gerberding cottage in Belvedere. No one knew where they were going until a week after the wedding, a dozen or so of the young friends of the bride and groom were summoned to a "telephone tea" at the cottage and found the bride and groom quietly ensconced there and very much at home.

MISS COLEMAN AND MR. NOBLE ENTERTAINED.

Just before their marriage Miss Florence Coleman and Prof. Noble were entertained by Judge and Mrs. Mild Myrick at their home on Broadway, San Francisco. Judge and Mrs. Myrick recently gave a dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Deering, the other guests being Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Stanford of Warm Springs and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Y. Campbell.

ELLA WHEELER WILCOX TO BE ENTERTAINED.

Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox, the well-known and popular writer, will be extensively entertained during her brief stay here. She is accompanied by her husband. Last evening the members of the Pacific Coast Women's Press Association gave a reception in her honor in the Maple Room of the Palace Hotel and next week, Miss Genevieve Maroney will entertain in her honor.

ADMIRAL SCHLEY WAS ANOTHER DISTINGUISHED GUEST

Admiral Schley was another distinguished guest but people seemed rather shy at entertaining him. Popular opinion seems to be against him now whatever it was immediately after the war. Beyond a dinner given by a few members of the Pacific Union Club and a few private entertainments there was nothing in the Admiral's honor. At first he gave out that he would accept no invitations and the number that he had declined was given to the public but later he reconsidered and accepted a few.

MASCAGNI'S FAREWELLS.

Mascagni had almost as many farewells as Patti but we are all regretful now that he has gone. His afternoon farewell when he gave the Symphony Pathétique was a thing long to be remembered both as a musical treat and for the enthusiasm in which one was permitted to be a participator.

The Tivoli chorus was in one of the boxes and after the presentation of the watch led the singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and "Auld Lang Syne." The orchestra was led by Stark. In these good fellowship numbers and people stood on their chairs to shout bravo and cheer the maestro.

Among the Oakland people I noticed were Mrs. Emma Shafter Howard and Mr. and Mrs. Shafter Howard, Miss Nellie Chabot and Mrs. Harry East Miller, the two latter in very handsome velvet calling gowns. Miss Chabot in particular, always dresses well and becomingly and Mrs. Miller is lovely in black velvet.

Mrs. Will Crocker had a box party and as her guests Mrs. C. P. Pomeroy, Miss Howe of New Orleans and Miss Barreda. Mrs. Crocker was lovely in white and pink. The ladies of this party left after the symphony to attend the tea in honor of Mrs. Charles B. Alexander who was Miss Hattie Crocker.

Mrs. Rudolph Spreckels occupied another box with her small son and her sister, Miss Joliffe. All three were in white and Mrs. Spreckels, in particular, looked pretty charming.

Another box party was composed of Dr. and Mrs. de Vecchi and their three children, a grown daughter and two small sons. They all enjoyed the music and the demonstration exceedingly. They are personal friends of the Mascagnis.

In another box was Mrs. Wilson Shiels who had given a luncheon at which she had entertained as her guests Mrs. "Jack" Spreckels, Miss Helen De Young and Miss Hager.

Some one criticized the gift of a watch and fob to Mascagni, but not those who know his dilatory methods, for he has never been known to be on time since he arrived in San Francisco, so a watch seemed a very appropriate gift. Often he is an hour late at formal after dinners.

MISS McBEAN'S WEDDING.

Miss McBean's will be a very quiet wedding because of the illness of Mrs. McBean, but all of the friends of the parties will be glad to see it solemnized—the two have waited so long and there have been so many hitches and delays. The apartments which the married pair are to occupy are said to be very charming and in perfect taste. Miss Ella Morgar who has been abroad almost ever since her father's death, threw her into mourning, will make her social re-appearance at this wedding. She will adopt the custom which I think so sensible of appearing all in white, gown, gloves, hat and shoes and will not make the wedding look dreary by appearing in black.

LENT MAKES IT A LITTLE DULL.

What a mercy it is that, even for the devout, educational affairs and charitable entertainments are permissible in Lent! What would become of us if they, also, were absoed? We are all well rested now, and I, for one, am just champing the bit in my anxiety to get back into the swing again. There are some attractive things planned for the week or two before Easter, and afterward, well, after Easter nobody expects to get a long breath until the country is reached, and what is more, nobody wants one. Deep breaths are associated with dress reform and for the most of us, the world, the flesh and—the rest of it, offer more attractions.

CHARTER DAY MEANS A LOT OF FUN.

Of course everybody went to the Charter Day exercises—everybody, that is, who has past or present ties to bind her to the University, and that includes most of us.

And Charter Day now means such a lot more fun than it used to before we had arrived at the dignity of being alumni.

In those days there weren't any jolly processions, with the faculty in cap and gown, full of color and picturesque effects. And I don't remember having two University Presidents present in those days, no had we the satisfaction of seeing a woman sitting among the regents as Mrs. Hearst sits now.

And somehow, it seems to me that there is more color and beauty in the massed audience than there used to be. Can it be possible that this is advancing age and that I am acquiring the perception of maturity? Perhaps the thought.

The addresses were not so different from the average and ordinary speeches at that sort of an affair. President Wheeler was cordial, President Jordan was concise, Governor Pardee was—Dr. Pardee with a new title, and they all said the proper thing in as nearly the proper way as in them lay, and people applauded it the right times. And everybody was glad when it was over.

SWELL DINNER GIVEN BY MRS. HEARST.

Then Mrs. Hearst gave a luncheon in Hearst Hall to a lot of notables. The tables were really lovely, with quantities of sunny jonquills to give them radiance, and Mrs. Hearst sat at the head of one, while President and Mrs. Wheeler did the honors at the other. Everything was very jolly and informal and everybody seemed to have a good time.

From four to six President and Mrs. Wheeler stood near the stairway receiving and they shook hands with about a thousand people.

I'd almost as soon be President of the United States as President of a University. In fact, I'm not sure that Teddy hasn't the easier time of it.

Mrs. Hearst and Mrs. Carl Schilling and charming Mrs. Lawson were also in the receiving party, and the Pardees were receiving on their own account.

There were a lot of stunning gowns worn and a whole affair compared rather favorably with similar gatherings at the Eastern Universities, except, of course, that we ever can muster up the same proportion of smart, well groomed men that one finds at an Eastern affair.

GIRLS ARE GOING TO PLAY.

With the exception of a few meetings of card clubs and an informal luncheon or two, there has been nothing but Charter Day to break the deadly monotony of the week, and we have all been living on anticipation.

And by all odds the most attractive thing we have to anticipate is the repetition of "The Romanians" by the girls who gave it at Ray Wellman's a few weeks ago.

Those of us who saw it then have made everybody else green with envy ever since, and now the girls have consented to give it for the benefit of the Ladies' Relief Society.

I don't wish to be disagreeable, and nobody could be more appreciative than I of the deserts of that most worthy charity, but just the same, I think the girls would have given it for the benefit of the Associated Tea-drinkers or the Cat's Refuge, or any old thing, just for the sake of having something to do.

Like all the rest of us, they are perishing with restlessness.

The cast, I am told, will be the same in every particular, as at the first performance, so I'll just copy my program for you: Percinet a lover (and a mighty fetching one she makes, too), Miss Clara Tait; Strafrel, a bravo, Miss Grace Baldwin; Bergamin, father to Percinet, Miss Edith Solby; Pasquin, father to Sylvette, Miss Hess Pringle; Bialse, a gardener, Miss Etel Valentine; Sylvette, Miss Pauline Fore; Mummer, Elsie Marwedel.

Act I. Walls between the parks of Bergamin and Pasquin.

Act II. Same scene without the wall.

Act III. Same scene with preparations for rebuilding the wall.

Of course, under the circumstances, the hot polio cannot very well be admitted and invitations are being sent out by the committee in charge, Mrs. Harry East Miller, Mrs. Harry Gordon and Mrs. Harrison Clay. I wonder if the audience is to be strictly "super-fine" or if a mere man might be admitted if he presented unimpeachable references?

Ruth and Alice Knowles, Ione Fore, Marion Smith, Winifred Burdge, Viva Nicholson, Evelyn Hussey, Jacqueline Moore, Bess Palmer, Claire Chabot and Ray Wellman are to be the ushers, so we'll be sure to see some good gowns, and as the tickets are only fifty cents, there will be a crush.

But heaven's blessing on the man who builds us a hall with a decent stage, where self respecting amateurs can give a play.

At present one must either sacrifice all natural desire for dressing rooms, or have one's best speeches drowned by the noise of trains, or drag one's pretty frocks—not to speak of one's unspeakable sort of a place, or—stifle one's histrionic yearnings.

Really, amateur theatricals offer a lot of amusement to a lot of people, and if there were only a place properly equipped, we might have some good times in that way.

At present the girls are going to use Reed Hall, minus dressing rooms at the stage end.

The Ebell stage has only one entrance.

Deitz Opera House, where Florence Sharon and some others gave an opera a few years ago, is impossible now, and the Unitarian church, where Frances Irish and her set give their entertainments, has only a temporary stage, and the paper muslin walls always vibrate until one has a dizzy feeling of being at sea.

Again I say, blessings on the man who builds us a good hall and a decently equipped stage!

RECEPTION TO MRS. GERBERDING.

I hear the Spinners are planning a reception at the Century Club in honor of their former President, Mrs. Gerberding, who expects to depart for Europe within a few weeks, to be gone indefinitely. One of Mrs. Gerberding's plays is to be given by a group of very clever people and about four hundred invitations will be issued.

The Spinners have a lot of bright women among them, many of whom live on this side of the bay, and their affairs are always well attended.

WOMEN WHO READ PAPERS.

There are a lot of women in Oakland who read papers in their clubs about economic conditions, and who sometimes put it to frame her theo-pose gracefully as philanthropists, and doubtless they mean—or think they do—all the beautiful and practical things they say.

But they are thoughtless. If you don't believe it, go into any one of the dry goods shops and see the aisles begin to fill up as five o'clock approaches.

Recently new hours have been established for the salesmen and women, which they are required to be on duty from half after eight to half after five, and heaven knows that is long enough to enable all the women in Oakland to do their shopping three times over, and the additional time for rest and recreation is a boon to the clerks.

But I have been watching the signs of the times, and as the days grow longer, the shoppers grow later, and since this new arrangement is an innovation for Oakland, and more or less an experiment, it is a question whether the employers will have nerve enough to stand by their present agreement with the salespeople if the patrons show an inclination to dally in the afternoon.

We have one or two shops which have in other respects the appearance and the customs and the stock of large city establishments, and I hope the proprietors thereof will not be persuaded by the thoughtlessness of their patrons into lowering the standards of their houses by returning to the primitive customs of country towns.

But the surest way to prevent that is not to tempt them, for since they still insist upon keeping open Saturday night, it might be easy for them to fall back into other usages reminiscent of the days when Oakland was a village. Shopping on the way home from a tea or luncheon, by the way, is one of the self-same remnants of provincialism. No really smart woman is ever seen now, wearing in a shop the gown at which she would appear at an afternoon reception.

GAVE A TEA AT HER ROOMS.

Annie Frances Briggs, who is a Spinner, gave a tea at the club rooms in honor of Mrs. Thornburg Cropper, of London. Annie Briggs has a lot of original ideas in decoration and is a charming hostess. It always gives me delight to see how well she is succeeding, too, for she has done a lot of hard work, and her water colors deserve the appreciation that they are now getting.

WILL SOON SAIL AWAY.

Eleanor Davenport is back, but like the celebrated Finnegan—or was it Finnegan?—is off again, or gone again, as she expects to sail with her mother, for the Orient very soon, not even waiting for her uncle Dixon Hewitt's wedding.

MAX TAFTS ARE SETTLED.

The Max Tafts are settled in their new house on the corner of Vernon street and Santa Clara avenue, but when they had been three days in the house, it was sold and they will probably have to vacate. There are rumors that they will build.

BACK FROM THE NORTH.

Etta Everson Roberts has come home for a visit after several months in Dawson and all that set are rejoicing. Mr. Roberts will probably come in June.

WILL SANBORN MEETS WITH ACCIDENT.

Poor Will Sanborn came to grief on Wednesday, when his horse fell on him and broke his leg, so there is one more man gone, temporarily, at least, and we haven't so many that we can spare one.

That sounds as if I didn't sympathize with Will.

I'm very sorry for him.

But I'm also sorry for one more blank place in the masculine ranks.

PHILOSOPHY OF MRS. CHENEY.

To those who remember Mrs. John Vance Cheney, in a clinging gray gown, a touch of black velvet deepening the effect of her silvery hair, the glimmering gray moonstones at her throat no more mysterious than the deep grayness of her eyes, moving about her dim, rose-hung, rose-lighted, rose-perfumed rooms in San Francisco, there is nothing surprising in the tidings that in New York, staid and solid Wall street brokers are flocking to her for "philosophic treatments" at twenty dollars per.

Not per broker but per treatment. Even before she left here, nearly ten years ago, Mrs. Cheney was developing a sublimated philosophy which, like her present system, was remunerative, but which also like her present system, was somewhat "difficult to explain."

That is, her devoted disciples were sometimes put to it to frame her theories in such a way that the casual, inquiring, irreverent mind could not readily grasp them, but that was doubtless due to a lack of complete comprehension and assimilation on the part of said disciples.

People sometimes embarrassed themselves by asking bare, bald, searching questions about things which ordinary delicacy would have left veiled—in gray. But I never heard that anybody embarrassed Mrs. Cheney. Such was the charm of her manner and the earnestness of her purpose—and while there may have been some difference of opinion as to what that purpose was, there never was any question that it was earnest—that men, women, and children—especially men and children—went down before it. And even among women, many of those who came to seek remained to pay.

Mrs. Cheney was a music teacher, a piano teacher, to be accurate. She came here many years ago from Sacramento, where the field was too limited for her ambition, which vaulted to San Francisco, thence to Oakland, and eventually back to the larger city again.

At that time she was an exponent of a well known German school of piano playing, and her pupils were remarkable for their youthful virtuosity, though there were musicians who smiled and said things that were not reverent about the foundations of the musical educators which Mrs. Cheney was building.

These jibes, repeated to Mrs. Cheney, produced only a mysterious smile and a sweetly pitying reference to the limited horizon of those unfortunate musicians.

And the good work went on.

The Cheney house was always the rendezvous of visiting and local celebrities and there one met everybody who was anybody, from Edmund Russell to John Muir. Mrs. Cheney went East at one time, remained for a few months, and returned with a brand new "method," and from that time dates the beginning of the "philosophy cure." For several years she continued her teaching of piano playing, with great success—especially financially—but she was not too busy to be very prominent socially. She was at one time president of the Century Club, and later, was the President of the First Woman's Congress held on this coast. The large audiences at those meetings were charmed by her beauty, tact, and grace of manner. But the story of that campaign has never been written.

San Francisco became too small for her scheme of operations; she began to feel, as her philosophy developed, that she had a message for the world, and she went to Chicago prospecting. Immediately thereafter her husband was called to take charge of the Newberry Library, and the Cheney Lanes and Penates were transported half way across the continent, leaving behind a club named for Mrs. Cheney and a large number of forlorn and leaderless disciples.

Reports came from time to time of the great success of the new theories and system of teaching, and of the light that was beginning to dawn for the privileged denizens of the Windy City. The Mrs. John Vance Cheney School of Life and Expression was established, with a large faculty and courses in everything from piano playing to physical culture. Mrs. Cheney gave special instruction in rhythmic breathing. Then she began to win laurels as lecturer and gave various courses in several Eastern cities. Once she returned to trim the lamp which was beginning to flicker low on this coast.

And now she is in New York, giving philosophic treatments in "Mental Police" to those who sit in the seats of the mighty, and it is said that she is being urged to establish a school of healing, for which John C. Havemeyer and others offer her backing "to any amount." What has become of The Mrs. John Vance Cheney School of Life and Expression the deponent saith not but doubtless Chicago has not been left in utter darkness, and in any event, it is earnestly to be hoped that the instruction in rhythmic breathing has not been abandoned.

Verily, to the contemplative mind, the evolution of a philosophic healer is enlightening.

DINNER TO THE BARONESS VON SCHROEDER.

Several entertainments have been given lately in honor of the Baroness von Schroeder, who has returned to California after an absence of several years and is living again at San Rafael. Mrs. Eleanor Martin gave a tea in her honor and on Monday evening, Mr. and Mrs. J. Downey Harvey entertained the von Schroeders at dinner. Mr. Harvey and the Baroness are cousins.

The dinner table in the Harvey home was beautiful with daffodils and violets in huge bronze vases and the ladies were beautifully gowned.

The menu was most elaborate and perfect in selection and service.

Mrs. Harvey's guests were Mr. and Mrs. Otis, Dr. and Mrs. Beverly MacMonagle, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Deering, Mr. and Mrs. Mendell, Mrs. Russell Wilson, Major Rathbone, and Captain and Mrs. McKenna.

MRS. HEARST'S LUNCHEON.

Mrs. Hearst's Charter Day luncheon was a very elaborate affair, everything being perfectly appointed. Mrs. Hearst presided at one table, while President and Mrs. Wheeler did the honors at the other.

Governor and Mrs. Pardee were among Mrs. Hearst's guests as were most of the other regents and their wives. Mayor and Mrs. Schmitz were also among the guests and I for one had my heart in my mouth all the time with my food, lest Mr. Schmitz should be called upon to say something.

He can always be relied upon to say the wrong thing, as witness his remarks at the Mascagni testimonial. After referring feelingly to his own musical career, Mr. Schmitz hoped that Mascagni would often "revert back" in his thoughts to dear old hospital San Francisco.

Indeed he was so pleased with "revert back" that he repeated it.

It is quite apparent that the Mayor, though a well-meaning man, and good-looking, has never studied derivation.

A FUNNY STORY GOING THE ROUNDS.

Appropos of the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fair and the dispute as to which died first, they are saying that it was because of this that Mr. and Mrs. Herman Oelrichs sailed for Europe on different steamers, so that if there were an accident, there could be no dispute on this subject. Possibly it is for the same reason why Mr. and Mrs. Oelrichs usually keep the width of the continent between them.

ANOTHER DAUGHTER FOR THE MACKAYS.

The Clarence Mackays have another daughter and are of course much disappointed as it is an ambitious family and a son was much desired to inherit the millions but especially to perpetuate the name.

LUNCHEON FOR MRS. J. WALTER SCOTT.

A luncheon was recently given in honor of Mrs. J. Walter Scott who has recently returned from several months spent in Santa Barbara. Mrs. Davis was the hostess at her charming little home in Fifth avenue and after luncheon cards were played.

EXHIBITION OF PAINTINGS.

Charles Rolfe Peters and Charles Dickman, both of the colony of Monterey painters, are giving a joint exhibition in the Bohemian Club Jinks room to which cards of invitation are being eagerly sought. The paintings cover the entire walls and this is the last exhibition Mr. Peters will give before he goes abroad where he expects to remain for several years, possibly permanently. He has rented his charming studio home to Mr. Frederick Greenwood who will give many house parties there this summer, transporting his guests thither in his automobile. Mr. Peters' pictures are mostly moonlight and some of his daylight pictures are genuinely beautiful and show that he has not lost his old style. Mr. Dickman has done some fine work, though not many of his pictures are of Monterey. He has completely repainted his "Return of the Boats" exhibited in the last Bohemian Club exhibition. He painted the original under great difficulties, while convalescing from a broken leg and the second canvas is much improved. Many of the pictures are for sale and the prices are not extortionate. It is the most interesting exhibition which has been seen in the city for months.

The Art Exhibition at the Hopkins Institute is not as interesting as usual this spring, though Will Sparks and Chapel Judson are said to have some very good things. To tell the truth, I've not had time to look in at the pictures myself, so my evidence is merely hearsay and doubtless not worth much. I'll tell you more about it when I've been.

The opening ladies' day at the Bohemian Club was quite fashionable, with some good gowns and hats and women of fashion. The two ladies' days remaining are Saturday, the 23rd, which is sure to be crowded and Wednesday, the first of April.

THE NUSBAUMERS TO HAVE A COUNTRY HOME.

I hear that Judge and Mrs. Nusbaumer have purchased a ranch in the country near Duncan's Mills. They will spend the major part of the year there returning to town for the winter months when they will board.

GAY PARTY, ON TAMPAI.

Dr. and Mrs. Russell Cool chaperoned a gay party up Tampa's last Saturday. The party remained at the Tavern for the night and came down on Sunday by various trains. Miss Viola Piercy was the hostess and among her guests were Miss Jennie Dunphy, Mrs. Lucie May Hayes, Dr. and Mrs. Cool, Miss Catherine Herrin, Dr. Arnold Genthe, Captain Johnson of the Presidio and R. M. Hotelling.

WALLACE IRWIN A HIT.

Wallace Irwin's burlesques at the Theatre Republic, which is the old Metropolitan Hall fixed over, have been a hit and he will continue to write new ones for the boards of that theatre as long as the town will take them. Mr. Irwin is under a salary and contract with the theatre and has severed his connection with the News Letter and the Overland. This summer he will travel with the company.

His first burlesque was Chop Suey and the new one soon to be produced is called the Siege of Goat Island and is crammed with local hits.

Its chief character is a well-known military personage.

The Irwins are becoming very popular socially for they are a most attractive young couple, full of life and have the keenest interest in everything.

They were lately at a dinner given by Miss Elsie Sperry who like her aunt, Mrs. Will Crocker, is found of interesting people, especially literary ones.

MRS. GUY EARL AS A HOSTESS.

Mrs. Guy Earl was the hostess this week at a most unique "at home." Her guests were the neighbors on the hill, called "Blackstone Hill," on account of the number of lawyers who have taken up residences there.

Mrs. Earl's home was most extensively decorated in honor of the occasion, showing a profusion of jonquils and violets.

Each guest kept a score card showing the number of neighbors to whom she had talked during the afternoon, and the one who had talked to the most people got the very pretty first prize.

Mrs. Earl's guests were: Mrs. Mark Requa, Mrs. Wm. Moller, Miss Lillie Moller, Mrs. W. R. Davis, Mrs. Towne, Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. Hayward Thomas, Mrs. Fred Hathaway, Mrs. Sam Brock, Mrs. Barrett, Mrs. W. Warden, Mrs. Russ, Mrs. Genung, Mrs. Selig, Mrs. F. C. Noyes, Miss Elsie Noyes, Mrs. M. F. Fish, Miss Gere, Mrs. M. Conway, Miss Clara Conway, Mrs. Warren Olney, Jr., Miss Ethel Olney, Miss Mary Olney, Mrs. E. von Adlung, Mrs. Horland, Mrs. Gorrell, the Misses Gorrell, Mrs. G. S. Cunningham, Mrs. F. F. Barbour, Mrs. Z. Gilpin, Mrs. Babitt, Mrs. E. W. Ower, Mrs. J. E. Nicholson, Mrs. Brock, Miss Brock, Mrs. A. Brock, Mrs. C. E. Morrison, Mrs. A. Munson, Mrs. Will Noyes, Mrs. Foster, Mrs. A. Breed.

PRESIDENT AND MRS. WHEELER.

One of the most successful "at homes" ever given by President and Mrs. Wheeler took place on the afternoon of Charter Day at Hearst Hall. This is the annual reception given by President and Mrs. Wheeler, and on Monday more than a thousand guests were entertained. The Charter day receptions are notable for the number of distinguished men who are present. Among those present on Monday were Governor and Mrs. Pardee, Regent and Mrs. John Britton, Hon. and Mrs. Guy C. Earl, Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Butters, Judge Garber, Mr. and Mrs. James Moffitt, Judge and Mrs. Haight, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. R. Davis. Almost the entire faculty of the University was present, and some of the gowns worn were the most elaborate of the season.

Mrs. Wheeler's gown was of pink flowered silk, beautifully outlined with the Persian trimming very fashionable in the East just now. A pink akrette was worn in her hair.

Mrs. Wheeler is much stouter than when she came to this coast, and the extra pounds are very becoming. The Wheelers were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Hearst, who wore a superb gown of heavy brocade silk in exquisite tones of green. She wore with it superb emeralds, the whole making up a costume exceedingly effective.

Mrs. Henry Butters wore a gown of black chiffon, and Mrs. Pardee's gown was in tones of tan.

Elaborate refreshments were served during the afternoon, and the "at home" lasted till six o'clock.

The elaborate luncheon always served is one of the features of Charter Day.

This year both Mrs. Hearst and Mrs. Wheeler entertained, and luncheon was served at Hearst Hall. It was a most elaborate affair. There were two long tables, at one of which Mrs. Hearst presided, and at the other, Mrs. Wheeler. The tables were beautifully decorated, showing a charming color scheme of yellow. There were masses of jonquils, and softly shaded candelabra sent a subdued light on the tables, and a hundred guests were entertained at once.

LARGE AFFAIRS GIVEN BY MRS. HEARST.

Mrs. Hearst has entertained this winter, in a style never before known on this coast. Her guests number hundreds at one time. She has given three "at homes," for each one of which over 2500 invitations have been sent out.

COOGANS HAVE GONE ON TRIP.

Mrs. T. C. Coogan is chaperoning this week a charming gathering of young people. The Coogans have taken a cottage at Inverness, and leave on Saturday to spend the next three weeks. They will entertain some interesting home parties during their stay. Among Miss May Coogan's guests will be Miss Helen Chase and Miss Lucretia Burnham.

LEAVES FOR HOME IN ENGLAND.

Mrs. Thornburgh Cropper, who has been Mrs. Hearst's guest this summer, leaves for her home in England next week.

She has an exceedingly attractive home in Regent's Park, London.

Mrs. Cropper was formerly Miss Minnie Thornburgh and the family lived in the beautiful Thornburgh place, opposite to Judge Garber's, for years. It was afterwards the Ballard home. The Thornburghs spent some time at Highlands, the guests of Mrs. Requa.

Mrs. Thornburgh went abroad with her daughter, and the latter married Mr. Cropper, an Englishman of note.

Mrs. Cropper received part of her education in Paris, and she has traveled so extensively, is so well read, with such beautiful well-bred manners that friends have found her very charming.

One of the San Francisco luncheons of the week was given in honor of Mrs. Cropper by her aunt, Mrs. J. H. Jewett.

It was given in one of the private rooms of the Palace Hotel. The room was very pretty with quantities of delicate pink almond blossoms, and the pretty table was all in green and white, with white blossoms and ferns.

Among the guests invited to meet Mrs. Cropper were Mrs. Lovell White, Mrs. F. G. Sanborn, Miss Briggs, Mrs. Homer King, Mrs. Horace Wilson, Mrs. Richard Bayne.

FABIOLA AFFAIR.

WILL BE A SUCCESS.

"For Thy Good Cheer." That is the name of the lovely Eastern tidings to be sent out by the Fabiola ladies on next Saturday, at the Easter tea.

Years ago, the ladies of the Unitarian Church got out a little book, which they copyrighted and called "Borrowings." It was so successful financially that they got another little book and called it "More Borrowings," and both volumes have been a source of revenue ever since to the Unitarian Church. One of the leading editors was Mrs. John Yule, and she has gone on with the "Good Literary Work in the Interest of the Fabiola Hospital, whose work is very dear to her heart.

All the calendars sent out have been immensely successful, but the most delightful one ever prepared is called "For Thy Good Cheer," and is now ready as a most charming and helpful Easter gift.

The ladies have had many meetings and have enjoyed their work in selecting appropriate and helpful quotations, and the book is uplifting in every way.

Plans have been carefully formulated for the tea next Friday at Mrs. Clift's, and the committees include some of the most prominent society people on our side of the bay, so that both a financial and a social success is already assured.

The last "at home" is set for Saturday of this week.

There is dancing to the music of a stringed orchestra for the younger people, an informal reception for the older ones, and most elaborate refreshments are served in the lower hall, always magnificently decorated.

The last of the seven Sunday recitals is set for Sunday. There are a thousand guests at each recital, and the best musical talent on the Coast makes up the program. At its close, each guest is personally greeted by Mrs. Hearst.

Mrs. Hearst's dinners have been the most elaborate Berkeley has ever seen. There are never less than forty guests and the decorations are beautiful, many of them being brought from the Hacienda. The magnificent Tiffany lamps, designed by Louis C. Tiffany have been much admired this season.

A dinner was given on Thursday evening by Mrs. Hearst, the guests being for the most part intimate friends of Miss Agnes Lane, who is Mrs. Hearst's cousin. One of the guests was Mr. William Bradford Leonard Jr. of New York, whose marriage to Miss Lane is set for April 16th. Mr. Leonard arrived from the East last week and is stopping at the Palace Hotel.

Miss Lane is a very pretty girl, with charming, well bred manners. She has been finely educated, having successfully taken the examinations for Bryn Mawr, and she has travelled far with Mrs. Hearst, and spent with her a winter on the Nile. Miss Lane has just returned from a year's travel abroad.

Among the guests at the dinner on Thursday was Doctor Joseph Marshall Flint, who is engaged to Miss Apperson, Mrs. Hearst's niece.

Doctor Flint is regarded as one of the most promising young men on the University Faculty. He has a magnificent physique, and has been splendidly educated, studying both here and abroad, and he is sure to achieve a fortune worth while.

Miss Apperson is very pretty, with a dainty, well bred style, and such perfect taste in gowns that she makes a charming picture always.

The date of the wedding of Dr. Flint and Miss Apperson has not been set, but it may take place late in the summer or early in the fall.

Mrs. Hearst expects to spend some weeks this summer at her country home on the McCloud River. It is a very picturesque structure of stone, and looks like a quaint mediaeval castle, the architecture being most appropriate against the strong backgrounds of hills.

BUNTINGS ARE IN FLORIDA.

Mr. and Mrs. Bunting of Centerville, who are travelling with a party of friends in their private car "El-Fleto," are now in Florida. They will travel to the extreme southern end of Florida and will make a brief stay at Palm Beach, that notable summer resort to which all well-to-do New York has hastened this year. The Goulds and the Marquis de Castellane have been the center of a gay set there this year. The Buntings and Mrs. Frank Watson will be in New York the second week in April.

KINGS ARE COMING HOME.

Mrs. Chas. H. King with the Misses Pearl and Mildred King will sail from Liverpool April 14th, having much enjoyed their stay abroad. Miss Pearl King is very musical and she much enjoyed the operas in Germany. Mrs. King is an exceedingly good student, and she got a great deal more out of her stay abroad than the average traveler.

The Kings will only stay a few days in New York, and then will come directly West.

Mr. Wallace Alexander arrived from Honolulu last week, and was accorded a very hospitable welcome by the Boys' Club of West Oakland, in which he has always shown such interest.

MRS. ROBERTS IS HOME.

Mrs. John Roberts, formerly Miss Etta Everson, arrived from the north this week. Mrs. Everson went as far as Seattle to meet her daughter who has been gone several months. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts had a most romantic wedding trip, going to Dawson immediately after their marriage, and beginning home keeping in a picturesque log cabin. Mr. Roberts will come to California in June.

WHEELERS ARE IN THE EAST.

Doctor and Mrs. P. L. Wheeler are in the East, and will visit while there. Mr. and Mrs. Safford who have a beautiful country home in Massachusetts. Mrs. Safford was formerly Miss Kirkham of this city.

ELECTION AT THE EBELL.

Everybody seems to be pleased with the regular ticket for the Ebell elections, and particularly glad that Mabel Gray is again a candidate for the Presidency. Mabel seems to have a smooth way of steering the "Ship of State" around the rocks and through the shallows, and only those who have been officers in a woman's club know what that means. If she wants the second term, she certainly deserves it.

A TALKATIVE MEETING.

A most unique entertainment took place at the home of Mrs. Guy C. Earl recently. Each of the guests kept a record of the people to whom she talked and a prize was awarded to the one who had talked to the most and could remember what was said. All of the guests talked and did it nobly and the afternoon was an exceedingly pleasant one. Mrs. Creed, Mrs. Whitney, Mrs. Edgar Stone, Mrs. K. D. Mitchell, Mrs. Charles Snook, Mrs. Redman, Mrs. W. S. Baxter, Mrs. J. H. Todd, Mrs. J. W. Nelson, Mrs. Irving Ayres, Mrs. Rees Thompson, Mrs. M. S. Chapman, Mrs. Josborough, Mrs. Edwin Morrison, Mrs. Fenna, Mrs. G. W. Palmer, Mrs. Will High.

OAKAMECA WHIST CLUB.

One of the interesting card meetings of the week was that of the Oakameca Whist Club, which met with Mr. and Mrs. Snyder B. Sargeant Wednesday evening.

The decoration of flowering peach blossoms and greens were most effective and artistic.

The prizes of the evening were carried off by Mrs. Knowles and Mr. Folger. The members of the club are: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Norton, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Folger, Mr. and Mrs. Snyder B. Sargeant, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Knowles, Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Coxhead, Miss Grove, Miss McFarland and Mr. and Mrs. L. Thomas.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON CLUB.

The Thursday Afternoon Whist Club met at Mrs. Clifford Ireland's of Sycamore street and enjoyed a very pleasant afternoon. The decoration were all in California poppies. Those present were: Mrs. Oliver, Mrs. Frank Cerrill, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Selfred, Mrs. Joseph Lanaster, Mrs. Hildebrandt, Mrs. Alice Kirby, Mrs. Miss Servais, Mrs. Parke Wilson, Mrs. Elin, Miss Muller.

AFFAIRS IN HER HONOR.

Mrs. Hoadley and her son, Mr. Hoadley, have been recently at the Hotel Coronado. Mrs. Hoadley will go next week to Del Monte, taking with her her granddaughter, Miss Ruth Kales.

Mrs. Kales entertained a few of her mother's friends recently in an informal way.

Mrs. Hoadley has many warm friends here, and on her return from Del Monte many affairs will be planned in her honor, as she is to spend the summer months here.

MRS. JOHN ROBERTS HOME.

Mrs. John Roberts, who was formerly Miss Etta Everson, is in Oakland once again and is staying at the family residence. Mrs. Everson was planned in her honor, as she is to meet her daughter, Mr. Roberts is still in Dawson, where he has large business interests, but is expected here in June. Mrs. Roberts is a great favorite here and is sure to be royally entertained.

PLANNING FOR THE FETE.

The various charities are holding meetings, planning the details of the Arbor Villa fete. The Fabiola ladies meet often, and the most gorgeous paper hats are in process of evolution. They are very pretty and picturesque and many people found them both use and becoming last year.

The Ladies' Relief Society is also making elaborate plans. It is to have charge of the candy booth, and all of us who can make "home-made" candy are contributing to the booth, and those who cannot make it are ordering candy, so a financial success ought to await the efforts of the managers.

BRADFORD-LANE WEDDING.

The wedding of Miss Agnes Lane and William Bradford Leonard Jr., is to take place at Mrs. Hearst's home April 16th. Miss Lane is Mrs. Leonard's cousin.

Mr. Leonard will go at the end of the week to Los Angeles on a business trip. His mother, Mrs. Leonard, is coming to this Coast for the wedding, and leaves New York this week. Her son will meet her and they will spend a few days in Monterey. The wedding list is not a large one and will not include more than thirty guests, mostly relatives and very intimate friends.

A LARGE TEA.

The large tea of last week was given by Mrs. Eleanor Martin in honor of Mrs. Charles Alexander, who is here from New York, and of Mr. Alexander's nieces, the Misses McCook.

Among the guests were Mrs. Isaac Requa, Mrs. Henry Butters, Mrs. Salisbury, Mrs. J. H. Jewett, Mrs. Cropper, Mrs. Lansdale and Miss Smith, who expect to leave for Europe in the near future to spend some months.

MARRIED IN THE EAST.

Cards have been received here telling of the marriage of Miss Ethel Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Martin, and David S. Edwards. The ceremony took place in the East. The young couple are now on their way to California and will make their future home in Piedmont.

RICHMOND PEARSON HOBSON.

Thursday evening, April 9th at the First Unitarian Church, Captain Richmond Pearson Hobson, U. S. N., of the Merrimack will give his famous lecture, under the auspices of the Ebell, "United States as a World Power." Captain Hobson is not only an officer and thinker, but also a student of international affairs, and he has moulded the facts he has picked up at every port into great lessons. The man is worthy of his theme, and the theme is worthy of the man. Tickets will be for sale by the Ebell on the night of the lecture at the church at fifty cents. There will be no reserved seats.

GAVE A DINNER.

Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Herrick entertained on Tuesday night at a dinner party given at the Athenian Club, and later the party witnessed "Shallock Holmby" the play given by the Athenian Club. The affair being complimentary to Miss Mabel Gage and Dr. J. Loran Pease, whose engagement has been announced. The table was prettily decked in pink carnations and pink-shaded candelabra. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. George Gross, Dr. J. Loran Pease, Miss Mabel Gage, and Dr. and Mrs. Herrick.

MISS MOORE ENTERTAINS.

Miss Jacqueline Moore entertained the members of the Wednesday afternoon Euchre Club this week at her home in East Oakland. Five-handed euchre was enjoyed the prize being won by Miss Edna Barry. The Club membership includes Miss Christie, Taft, Miss Bessie Palmer, Miss Jane Grellin, Miss Ethel Lohse, Miss Ruth and Miss Alice Knowles, Miss Edith Gaskill, Miss Jean Clift, Miss Ione Fore, Mrs. William Watt, Mrs. Irving Lundberg, Miss Edna Barry and Miss Jacqueline Moore.

COSMOS CLUB.

The Cosmos Club was entertained this week at the home of Mrs. Egbert Stone, on Thirteenth street.

THE WHEELLOCK CLUB.

The Wheellock Club had a pleasant meeting this week at the home of Mrs. William H. Chickering on Sixteenth street. The hour was passed agreeably at whist. The guests were: Mrs. E. E. Henshaw, Mrs. M. W. Kales, Mrs. E. J. Barrett, Mrs. E. B. Beck, Mrs. J. V. Nelson, Mrs. Remi Chabot, Mrs. Q. A. Chase, Mrs. J. A. Folger, Mrs. Andrew Pinn, Mrs. E. A. Heron, Mrs. Samuel Hubbard, Mrs. Robert Moore, Mrs. Prentiss Selby, Mrs. Gordon Stelp, Mrs. Henry Waldford, Mrs. E. M. Walsh, Mrs. John Yule, Mrs. Paul Lohse, Mrs. J. R. Burnham, and Mrs. Chickering.

EUCHRE CLUB MEETING.

The Monday afternoon Euchre Club was entertained this week at the home of the Misses Nicholson, on Eighth and Grove streets. Five-handed euchre was enjoyed and the prizes were won by Mrs. George Gross and Mrs. James Tyson.

Among the players were: Mrs. Wickham Havens, Mrs. Edward W. Eng, Mrs. Albert A. Long, Mrs. George Gross, Miss Mabel Gage, Mrs. James Tyson, Miss Adah Brown, Miss Alma Brown, Mrs. Frederick W. Morse, Mrs. William Gage of San Francisco, Miss Longworthy, Mrs. Henry Rosenfeld and the Misses Carrie and Bell Nicholson.

RODOLPH LUNCHEON.

Mrs. Charles Rodolph will be the hostess this afternoon at a luncheon, followed by cards, given in honor of Mrs. Charles W. Rhodes of Seattle, who is the guest of Miss George Strong.

The luncheon will be given to the following: Miss Mary Wilson, Mrs. Vernon Waldron, Mrs. Newton Koser, Mrs. William E. Colby, Mrs. R. Emma Nicholson, Mrs. George Rodolph, Mrs. Frederick Lillard, Mrs. M. E. Davidson, Mrs. Alexander H. Marx, Miss George Strong and the hostess. The additional guests for cards will be Miss Marion Everson, Miss Ada Bates, Mrs. F. H. Smith, Mrs. D. H. Mathes, Mrs. Francis Musser, Mrs. Charles N. Spratt, Miss Ida Carmany and Mrs. Rae.

ENTERTAINMENT AND DANCE.

An entertainment and dance was given for the benefit of Rebekah Lodge No. 12, by the East Oakland Dramatic Club last Monday evening. The program was as follows: Introductory remarks, Mr. C. O. Whipple; overture, orchestra; recitation, "Alameda," Miss Isabel Burdick; specialties, George Calvert; selection, orchestra; farce, "The Social Outcast," by E. O. D. Club. Cast of characters: Laurence Emmett, McAndlerick Mick, Milton Le Ballister, Frank Kenmore, Fred McCormick, Judge Montgomery, J. H. Deal; Julia, his daughter, Isabel Burdick; Jennie, her cousin, Miss Carrie Musser. At the conclusion of the program dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

TWENTIETH ANNUAL TOUR

Removing Wrinkles in One Treatment

NO STEAM. NO MASSAGE. NO SECLUSION. SUPERFLUOUS HAIR REMOVED BY ELECTRICITY. PURE ELECTRIC TREATMENT FOR ALL FACIAL BLEMISHES.

The Madame will give a grand reception at her parlors at the Hotel Metropole every day. Ladies are invited to call and see that massage and steaming the complexion are things of the past.

A POSITIVE GUARANTEE OF SUCCESS
A beautiful face is within the reach of every woman. It only remains for her to see the Madame, throw off the thrall of doubt and skepticism, and grasp it.

The Madame's celebrated preparations are NOT sold in drugstores. They are made fresh in her laboratory and compounded to suit each special case.

San Francisco "Examiner" says: "Madame Tully, a type of the representative Southern lady of ante-bellum days, is stopping at the California Hotel. Madame Tully is educated, accomplished, and like all well-bred Southern women, she is a most charming hostess. Her stay in Oakland will be a limited one. In her numerous tours she has visited nearly every city of prominence in the United States and Europe. She has demanded the kindest recognition of the society people in New York, Chicago, St. Louis and other populous centers of this country. We commend the Madame to the most favorable notice of Oakland's representative people."

The success of Madame Tully in San Francisco during the last six months is only one of the many achieved in every large city in the United States. Her popularity is ever increasing, and the ladies always look forward to her return with much pleasure.

By request of some of our ladies, Madame Tully stopped here for only a short time.

Every lady can be her own dermatologist. Madame Tully will sell her complete outfit, with full instructions for home use, with guaranteed results. Full instructions given with batteries for constitutional treatment. The Madame is well known here.

Chas. Spear Knows the Water Front— That Poker Game at the Union League Club—Hearst and the Presidency.

THE KNAVE

Keep Your Eye on the San Francisco Democrats—Mrs. Campbell's Religious Scruples—Canal Commissioner.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28.—Now that your fellow citizen, Charles H. Spear, is installed as president of our Board of Harbor Commissioners, the water front politicians are much more to know what he is going to do about it. It is known that he bears from Governor Pardee a message and a mission of retrenchment. Hence, there is a flutter all along "the front."

Hitherto the idea of a Harbor Commissioner has seemed to be that the benefactor of his race was the man who made two jobs grow where one grew before. The San Francisco merchants have protested time and again about the squandering of the harbor dues on useless employments and needless salaries. But the San Francisco merchants have become ridiculous and ineffective in the eyes of the politicians. This is because those merchants do protest too much and let it go at that.

If you go to the leaders and officers of the merchant organizations, they will tell you off hand that money is squandered on the water front; but not one of them has ever been at the pains to learn just where the squandering is done or just which of the positions are ornamental and unnecessary. Consequently all those protests have caused nothing more than a snicker or a sneer.

But Charles Spear has been after that job of Harbor Commissioner for more than four years. He has been studying water front conditions all that time. When he went down to take hold the other day the attaches were surprised at his knowledge of their duties. Said one of the venerables to me:

"Why, he knows more water front than Paris Kilburn does after four years in office."

And now who is Spear going to top off? That has become a more important inquiry than "Who is Spear going to appoint?" That Pardee intends to start a reign of economy on the front is known and that Spear is his agent and instrument is certain. So watch for the heads to drop.

There is a bit of a ruction and threats of secession in the Union League Club, home of Republicanism, comfort of the chair-warmers. And above and beyond everything else is a demonstration that Republicans are not whiskey-drinkers. For the bar of the Union League does not pay.

The Palace Hotel serves the meals and the drinks for the club, taking such compensation as it may secure therefrom. Of course, there is little or no profit in an elaborate 50-cent lunch, and the hotel management looked to the bar for compensation. In the scheme of the bar's patronage the poker game played a stout part. The "ditty" was fat and the drinks many.

But President George Pippy frowned upon that poker game. The studies ran high and he feared and predicted a gambling scandal. So Senator Voorhies led away the poker players in high dudgeon, and they now roost and play for whatever stakes they please in the high rooms of the San Francisco Club on top of the Call building.

Then there is the Duncan McKinlay following, who think Pippy should have given way to McKinlay instead of grabbing a second term in the presidency. They are growling that Pippy now is off to Washington at the club's expense bearing the gold invitation to President Roosevelt, while the club is left to the care of itself, and McKinlay threatens to join some other club organization.

But the worst menace to the club's peace is the condition of the bar. The hotel management keeps two barkeepers there employed, paying each $50 a month—and, of course, the liquor costs something. But the entire receipts of that bar last month were only about $50, the poker kitty having been driven away. Of course, the hotel management hardly can afford to maintain $100 worth of barkeepers to take in $50 of receipts. So Manager Kirkpatrick has threatened to leave the club without a bar—arid, thirsty and distressed. But the W. C. T. U. may take heart from this condition and go forth to tell the world that the Republican leaders are rapidly approaching a condition of total abstinence.

Congressman Francis Burton Harrison of New York, who married Mary

Crocker, is visiting California, and from his talk it is certain that the aristocratic Democrats of New York are going to support Appellate Judge Alton B. Parker for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency. Harrison represents the ultra-fashionable district which takes in Fifth and Madison avenues, and was gerrymandered by a Republican Legislature to make it certainly Republican.

Harrison is a young man with a winning way, and he captured the district for the Democrats, though he really is aristocratic rather than Democratic. Now he is here preaching the cause of Judge Parker and minimizing the chances of the other aspirants for the Democratic nomination, just as he is minimizing the chances of Roosevelt's re-election to the Presidency. Harrison passes over the aspirations of William Randolph Hearst with a pleasant but slight allusion.

But Justice Henshaw has brought back from Washington an entirely different idea of the way Hearst's candidacy is regarded in the East. In Washington Henshaw met Irish, who was working on that claim against Salvador, in which he has a $60,000 interest. Irish, as everybody knows, hates Hearst with surpassing bitterness. But he told Henshaw that much to his surprise and disgust a majority of the Democratic United States Senators favored Hearst's candidacy. That begins to look very much as if "the young people" of the San Francisco Examiner," as Steve White called him in his famous San Jose speech, was a very serious candidate for the first job in the land.

Meantime the Democratic leaders in California are seeing the chance to get the Examiner back into the party traces. Some of them are very sore over the failure of the paper to support Lane. In fact, they attribute Lane's defeat to the Examiner's desertion. But most of them are looking to the future now, and with Hearst a candidate there is a chance to unite the party and have some small chance at the political leaves and fishes.

It would not be surprising to see a re-establishment of the entire cordial relationship between the Examiner and Phelan and even Lane may be placated. Stranger things have happened in politics—for instance, the present political friendship between De Young, Herrin and Spreckels. And without the Examiner, Phelan never can hope to be United States Senator. So keep your eye on the Democrats.

In deference to the religious scruples of Mrs. Patrick Campbell, the management of the Columbia Theatre announced that there will be no performance on Friday night, April 10th.

Now that may be pious or it may be advertising. Your actress generally is more given over to advertising than to prayer, and the scoffer will be apt to put down this Columbia Theatre announcement of no performance on Good Friday in the category with the stolen diamonds, the milk bath and the stage scandal. But Mrs. Pat Campbell, first of England's actresses, the lissome woman of the Aubrey Beardsley poses for freaks of advertisement. At least she need not invade the holy days to attract attention, for she certainly holds the theatrical world at gaze.

So it must be pious that keeps her from a Good Friday performance—some well-learned church lesson of her childhood, "The Joy of Living," is her play for that week, and the joy of living surely has small place in a day which marks the world's greatest tragedy.

But here is a chance for the students of character building and the stage influence. Mrs. Pat Campbell plays bad women—Maggie, the notorious Mrs. Ebbsumth, Paul, the wanton in "The Second Mrs. Tangueray." Yet all that has not been able to blot from her life the knee-learned lessons of the long ago. She still has scruples about playing on Good Friday. So perhaps the influence of the problem plays are not so bad after all.

Incidentally the theatre management which cares not a whack for Good Friday, being of a differing faith, is putting its chest forward and saying that it is the first time in the city's history that a playhouse has been closed on the holy day because of the religion of an actress.

President Roosevelt has told the California Senators that he will make no appointments of Panama Canal Commissioners or Commissioners of the Bureau of Manufacturers until he has come to California and looked over the aspirants. Dr. Chester Rowell, Senator from Fresno County and University Regent, has been in horse for the place of Canal Commissioner, but Assemblyman Bailey of Humboldt and Hugh Crocker also have been mentioned for the job. As Rowell opposed all the labor bills at Sacramento, the Unions are more than likely to set up a rear if he is named. It is a fine fat job for him at $100 a month—just about the best thing anywhere. As for the Board of Manufacturers, since the President said he would give the Commission to a Californian, Cornelius T. Paul, a tax expert, who has the backing of Supervisor Brandenstein, has been getting himself very liberally named for the appointment. But most of the commercial bodies since Newhall made his fool blunder of tendering the place to Los Angeles, have been laboring under Eugene Goodwin, who is director of the museum at the Ferry Building. If Californians act in scraps over these two prizes of politics this State very probably will get neither of them. But Californians always have to scrap when there is a job in sight.

JOURNEYING IN LANDS BEYOND THE SEA.

Most Entertaining Lecture by Inspector James W. Erwin of Postal Department.

An evening of literary pleasure was afforded those attending the lecture delivered by the assistant superintendent of the free delivery system, Postal Inspector James W. Erwin, in the Mission Congregational Church, in East Oakland, last night.

About two and a half years ago Mr. Erwin made a trip to China, Japan and the Philippines and, during his sojourn in those countries, he jotted down reminiscences of interesting incidents and historical facts. These he has woven into a delightful little story of the Orient. Over 150 stereoscopic views of scenic grandeur, public buildings and ludicrous situations added a charm to the address. Nearly all of these are from photos taken by Mr. Erwin.

The lecture itself is a literary effort of merit, although the author modestly declines its having particular worth.

The lecture was interspersed with happy witticisms and was clearly and interestingly delivered by Mr. Erwin.

shoot the performer; he is doing the best he can. Will you kindly consider this plea in my behalf?"

Referring to the ocean voyage, Mr. Erwin said that many people sang of a life of the ocean wave. He thought that was all right when the waves kept still, but when they didn't, well, it was different.

IN KOBE.

After describing the first sight of land, after 19 days of sea and sky the lecturer described his impressions of Japan. Landing was made at Kobe.

"Calling Jirikishas," he continued, "we were soon whirling through the streets of this interesting city. Kobe is the second export city in the empire, has a population of 90,000 and is of much interest to the tourist. From Kobe to Nagasaki, the trip was through the beautiful inland sea. As we left the inland sea and entered the Japan sea, I saw through the open port a barren, rugged rock, surmounted by a lighthouse. In

Referring to the ocean voyage, Mr. Erwin said that many people sang of a life of the ocean wave. He thought that was all right when the waves kept still, but when they didn't, well, it was different.

After describing the first sight of land, after 19 days of sea and sky the lecturer described his impressions of Japan. Landing was made at Kobe.

"Calling Jirikishas," he continued, "we were soon whirling through the streets of this interesting city. # GREAT HARDSHIPS SUFFERED BY DISCOVERY MEN.

Thrilling Stories Are Told by the Englishmen Who Are Working in Ice Fields—Great Sledge Expedition.

LITTLETON, N. Z., March 26.—The search parties of the British Antarctic ship Discovery, whose experiences were reported by the relief ship Morning, on the latter's arrival here Wednesday, engaged in much hazardous work. The dash southward of Captain Scott of the Discovery, as a result of which he reached latitude 82.17 South, was attended by great hardships and extra strain. The softened snow told quickly on the dogs, which all died. The party had only a month's provisions when they left the southernmost depot and therefore it was impossible to continue southward without leaving disaster. The return journey was most trying. The party were on short rations for five days and their progress was seriously impeded by fog. Lieutenant Shackleton burst a blood vessel in one of his lungs and only his pluck pulled him through.

The crew of the Discovery is described as having palpably aged owing to hard living but all are well and cheerful.

Another party, under Lieut. Barnes, was returning from a sledge journey towards Cape Crozier, when a blizzard struck them, ten miles from home. Barnes abandoned his tents and sledges and left the dogs to find their own way to the ship. Owing to the blinding snow, Barnes and his companions were unable to see two yards ahead. While they were descending a slope one of the party disappeared and members of the expedition discovered themselves to be on the edge of a huge precipice. Another member of the party fell from sheer weariness and was not missed for some time, and he was eventually given up as lost by the rest of his companions, who searched for him. But it developed that the man slept under a drift for 36 hours and he rejoined the ship unharmed.

The members of another sledge expedition, under Lieut. Armitage, which went westward, were away fifty-two days.

They attained an altitude of 9300 feet and descended on an ice slide to a glacier 3000 feet below. The descent was perilous. The sledges at one part of the descent covered 1300 feet in a minute and ten seconds, their occupants hanging on by straps to the backs of the sledges. Lieut. Armitage fell into a crevasse and hung ninety feet below the surface. But for the fact that he was harnessed to the others, he would have fallen 2000 feet.

At Cape Adair, the Discovery found Porch Gravink's house in a good state of preservation.

There were some cases of scurvy during the sledge journeys, but they recovered on the return of the sufferers to the ship.

There were many complaints about the tinny provisions.

The places of Lieut. Shackleton and the others who returned on the Morning were not filled, as Captain Scott has still 41 men in the crew of the Discovery.

GOOD WORK OF DAUGHTERS OF ISRAEL.

MRS. GUS COHN, Secretary of the Daughters of Israel.

The Daughters of Israel is one of the most successful of the charitable organizations of this city.

They have been in existence here for a number of years and have well laid the foundation for a long and vigorous existence.

The organization is composed, as its name indicates, of Hebrew ladies, who self-sacrificingly give of their efforts, time and their money in a liberal manner to aid those in the main of their own faith, who are compelled, by reasons of poverty, sickness or accident, to undergo privation which otherwise would be calling, indeed.

The funds which these ladies provide themselves is amplified by receipts from entertainments of various kinds, which they devise and superintend with both energy and success.

The organization also aims at the uplifting of its members and, with this end in view, encourages lectures and other literary efforts on practical subjects of the day.

MRS. HARRIET MARKS, Vice-President of the Daughters of Israel.

ROBBERS BATTLE WITH OFFICERS.

One Thief is Killed and Another Wounded and Captured—Good Work Done in a Small Town.

CLEVELAND, March 28.—A desperate battle was fought early today between three robbers on one side and officers and citizens on the other, at Bedford, a suburb, resulting in the death of one of the robbers and the wounding and capture of another. Many shots were exchanged before the fleeing men were finally brought to earth.

Very late last night, three masked men entered the town of Garrettsville, 25 miles east of Cleveland, seized the night policeman and bound and gagged him. The officer was then marched to the postoffice, where he was compelled to witness an attempt to blow open the safe by the marauders. They finally, after working some time, gave up the job without securing anything of value. They then entered the store of D. E. George, where they secured a small

FIEND TRIES TO WRECK A TRAIN.

Dropped a Big Rock From the Top of a Bridge—Tried to Catch the Engine.

BAYONNE, N. J., March 28.—An attempt to damage a New Jersey Central train while it was passing through Bayonne last night, running at the rate of about 60 miles an hour, narrowly escaped resulting in death or at least injury to many passengers. The train was heavily loaded. As it was passing under the bridge at East Forty-sixth street, some one dropped a stone weighing about thirty pounds from the bridge to the top of the coaches. It is supposed the purpose was to drop the rock on the engine. The rock had a twenty foot drop. It hit the roof of the first passenger coach, broke through, shattered the gas connections and fell in the aisle between seats that contained passengers. The noise of the stone tearing through the roof and dropping to the floor caused the women to scream and faint, and there was general excitement in the car. A brakeman, not knowing what had occurred, pulled the emergency brake cord and the train was stopped suddenly.

FIRST SPIN OF THE SHAMROCK AT SEA. BREWERS HAVE CONE ON A STRIKE.

WOULD NOT TACKLE ROUGH WEATHER BUT WILL START ON MONDAY.

GLASGOW, March 28.—The first spin of the Shamrock III which was to have taken place to-day, has been postponed until Monday owing to the fact that a gale of wind is sweeping over the Clyde. Captain Wringe feared to risk the cup challenger's new sails.

Sir Thomas Lipton, and Designer Watson went to Gourock in expectation of witnessing the yacht's trial but after consulting with Captain Wringe, it was decided that it was not advisable to risk injuring her in the severe weather prevailing to-day.

One of the several features of the challenger is her main sheet, which is of wire rope. This is the first time wire has been used in this connection on board any yacht on this side of the Atlantic.

REFUSED TO SUBMIT GRIEVANCES TO ARBITRATION.

MAHANOT CITY, Pa., March 28.—Refusing to submit their grievances to arbitration as proposed by the twelve breweries controlled by the Anthracite Brewery Workers to the number of about 1000 went on strike to-day. The Brewers Association wanted the differences settled by a board of arbitration to consist of five persons, two each to be selected by the parties to the controversy and these four to name the fifth arbitrator, who should be a prominent member of the United Mine Workers. This proposition was rejected by the brewery employees, who said there was nothing to arbitrate. The chief demand of the Union is for an increase in wages.

CLAIMS OF AMERICAN SEALERS.

LONDON, March 28.—The Russian embassy has issued a communication giving particulars of the awards of professor Asser, in the arbitration in the claims of American sealers for the seizure of their vessels by the Russian Government about ten years ago. Professor Asser's decision, which was in favor of the United States, was delivered last November. The Russian communication says that the submission of all such matters to an arbitrator proves conclusively how great a value Russia attaches to the settlement of disputed points of arbitration. Though the particular points concerning the seizure of the American schooners, continues the communication, were connected with the general question of the protection of the sealing industry, Professor Asser's decision deals conclusively with the matter in dispute. Consequently, with regard to the more general questions connected with the matters adjudicated, and to the solution of which Russia has always been in perfect agreement with the United States, the Russian Government retains its line of action necessary for the further settlement of these questions in conference with the rights and interests of the country.

SHRINKAGE OF ESTATE OF C. P. HUNTINGTON.

Attorney Wants to Compel the Executors to File an Inventory of the Property.

NEW YORK, March 28.—William Mumford, counsel for G. M. Reynolds of Washington, in an affidavit accompanying a request made to Surrogate Fitzgerald for an order to compel the executors of the estate of Collis P. Huntington to file an inventory of the estate, charged that it is plain that the executors do not intend to file an inventory of the estate, which, he says, he is advised consists, among other things, of personal property worth from $60,000,000 to $70,000,000.

From the best information obtainable the estate will show a valuation of about $21,000,000 at the time of the death of Mr. Huntington.

No explanation is obtainable at present for the apparent shrinkage of the estate to this low figure. When Mr. Huntington died those in a position to know about his affairs said his estate was worth between $27,000,000 and $30,000,000. The State Comptroller's office has taken about two years to make its appraisal for taxation purposes and is not yet ready with a report. "We are waiting for an inventory of the estate," said Mr. Mumford, "so we can bring action against the estate."

Mr. Mumford's affidavit alleges that C. P. Huntington was a director and officer of the Central Pacific Railroad along with Leland Stanford, Charles Crocker, Mark Hopkins and others and that the directors named controlled the Contract and Finance Company and Pacific Improvement Company which companies, "through collusive fraudulent contracts," profited to the extent of $29,000,000 at the expense of the stockholders of the Central Pacific Railroad, one of whom is G. Emily Reynolds, whom Mr. Mumford represents. Mr. Mumford said that his client, who owns ten shares of stock in the Central Pacific Railroad, begins action against the Huntington estate at the instance of stockholders. He also said that he did not expect that the executors would file their inventory until the State Comptroller had made his appraisal for the purpose of taxation.

JIM HILL IN EUROPE.

NEW YORK, March 28.—President J. J. Hill of the Northern Pacific is in London for a few days, says the London correspondent of the Tribune. Mr. Hill said in the course of a talk: "I am on my special mission. I have just come from the continent during the time I have been in Europe I have not done a stroke of business. I am on my usual yearly visit. I need rest sometimes and my sole reason in coming over at this time is to be quiet." He refused to be drawn into a comparison of the commercial and railway positions of America and England but expressed the opinion that something will have to be done to meet the growing requirements of the United States in railway facilities. In many parts of America its immense resources have scarcely been tapped and more railways, he said, will have to come to provide for the great development which must take place. Mr. Hill intends to start on his return trip to America next Wednesday.

LADY SYBIL WAS MARRIED AT EPSOM.

DAUGHTER OF LORD ROSEBERRY WEDS LIEUTENANT GRANT.

LONDON, March 28.—The Earl of Rosebery's eldest daughter, Lady Sybil was married at Epsom today to Lieutenant C. J. C. Grant of the Coldstream Guards, son of Lieutenant-General Sir Robert Grant. The wedding was quiet, only near relatives and intimate friends of the families being present.

Lord Rosebery gave away his daughter, who was attended by eight bridesmaids, including Miss Maribel White, wearing the Earl's racing colors, primrose and pink. A wedding luncheon was afterwards served at The Durdans, Lord Rosebery's seat at Epsom.

The display of presents has rarely been equalled. King Edward, Queen Alexandra, the Prince and Princess of Wales and other members of the royal family sent diamond bracelets or brooches. Lord Rosebery's gift amounted to a large fortune in diamonds and pearl tiaras, necklaces, bracelets, etc.

The Rothschilds and others sent the bride numerous costly jewels.

DASTARD SAILOR FITLY PUNISHED.

BOSTON, March 28.—An unusual scene has been enacted on the United States revenue cutter Seminole, lying in this harbor. One day this week, one of the seamen, a veteran tar, broke out in the fore-castle in violent abuse of pretty nearly everything. He proceeded in his vituperation without being molested until he called the United States flag a dirty rag and indulged in other unpatriotic sentiments. A quartermaster standing near reported this language to Captain Rogers, commanding the Seminole, and the latter took prompt action. All hands were called to general muster and the captain addressed them on the enormity of the offense committed by one of their number. Then he compelled the culprit to kiss the flag six times and repeat after him an obligation never to speak disrespectfully of it or allow any one else to do so in his presence. The name of the offender is not made known.

NON-UNION MEN AT FERNIE.

VICTORIA, B. C., March 28.—In view of the fact that trouble is expected at Fernie, in the event of non-union men being imported by the Crow's Nest Coal Company, the British Columbia Government has requested the Dominion Government to send a detachment of Northwest mounted Police to Fernie, the center of the strike, and a squad of fifty men has been ordered to proceed from Calgary.

RESISTED AN OFFICER.

NEW YORK, March 28.—Congressman Sulzer has secured the release of Patrick B. Magner, a private of the Twenty-second Company, Coast Artillery and two other United States soldiers from the Havana presidio, cables the Tribune's correspondent in Havana. The Prosecuting Attorney has recommended that Magner be confined a year and a day before his trial for resisting an officer.

STUDENTS INDIGNANT WITH COLLEGE EDITOR.

Claim That He is Responsible for Action Taken by Faculty Against Rushers.

BERKELEY, March 28.—In connection with the trouble over the Charles Day rush and the subsequent action of the students' affairs committee, in recommending that three of the offenders be expelled from the University, the friends of the rushers are speaking in very complimentary terms of Editor William L. Finley of the Californian, the daily paper of the student body.

Finley's accuracy, claim that he has taken an unfair stand against the men who were called before the students' affairs committee.

They even go so far as to say that, but for the editor's action, the rush would have taken the stand that it did. About the campus the friends of the three men are very forcible in their remarks, some of them suggesting that a coat of tar and feathers would do the young editorial writer good.

This extreme action will hardly be taken, the more conservative of the students being opposed to such drastic measures.

But it is more than possible that something will be done by the trustees, to bring Finley to what they call a reasonable sense of his responsibility as editor of the college daily.

On Tuesday, when the entire college world was talking of the rush and the probable action of the faculty, Finley came out with an editorial of course against the offenders, and expressed the hope that the faculty would deal strictly with the students who took part in the rush. A portion of the editorial read as follows: "When the rushers marched up the hill to meet the Freshmen Saturday night, we are told that among their number were some who were not only doing everything in their power to encourage the rush, but also to encourage the students who were doing so. These men are the real trouble. They are probably the real instigators of the rush."

In another issue, that of the next day, the Californian contained another editorial, which read in part: "The question of the rush is not a question of the real question of the rush, but of the real question of the rush. We are told that among their number were some who were not only doing everything in their power to encourage the rush, but also to encourage the students who were doing so. These men are the real trouble. They are probably the real instigators of the rush."

of vital interest to the student body that the editors be called before the trustees.

Following this editorial and an expression of the opinion in which Finley is held by those who think that expulsion is too hard a punishment to be inflicted upon the offending rushers, the following letter has been addressed to the young editorial writer: "Mr. Editor, Dear Sir: This is a missive from people who mean business. You are altogether too fast to get into trouble. If you don't shut up pretty soon there will be something done. You are a Senior, but you don't draw your pay from the University. You have done too much already. Please take a little kind advice and shut right up. Yours truly, those whom you don't know."

What the outcome of the college editor's troubles will be, will depend largely upon the action taken by President Wheeler in regard to the rushers.

BURGLAR WITH FONDNESS FOR STEALING TROUSERS.

BERKELEY, March 28.—The newly organized Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity that used to be the Yachatta Club is minus a pair of trousers. Last night a thief entered the house, 1118 University avenue, and stole the trousers of J. L. Neighbors, neighbor and his room-mate, Clifford Neighbors. The thief knew nothing of the theft until next morning. There was $10 in the pocket of the stolen garment. Several burglaries of a similar nature have been made lately in the houses of J. L. Neighbors, having been entered, last week, and that of Mrs. Bailey a few days before.

TAX ROLLS PROVE REAL SPRING WALKING COSTUME.

ESTATE VALUE.

Rapid Growth of Oakland and Berkeley Due to Business Expansion and Manufacturing Development.

The stability of the real estate market in Oakland and the contiguous cities and towns has received an attestation that cannot be questioned. It is a certificate given by the tax gatherer. Its value cannot be misunderstood, for the assessment roll is the last place for increases in property values to make their appearance.

The story of the steady and continued growth of this city has been told in various ways—by the census, by the building activity, by the directory, by the postoffice receipts and by the volume of business transacted in the stores and banks. Now comes the Assessor's confirmation, and it is a confirmation that is the reverse of inflation.

Although the assessment roll for the city of Oakland shows an increase of more than $1,000,000, mainly on real estate, the valuations are very conservative—usually from thirty to fifty per cent below selling prices. There has been no sudden upward rush of values, merely a steady advance that is broadening out and growing more pronounced as the communities on the eastern shore of the bay become more deeply planted and absorb a larger share of the commercial and industrial activities of the State. During the era of great depression that prevailed between 1893 and 1897, inclusive, the assessment roll of both the city and county was pared down to the quick. Valuations were reduced to the bedrock basis, and they have been raised for taxation purposes since slowly and cautiously, with the result that the values on the assessment roll are far below real market value, save in a few special instances or a few isolated localities.

The greatest actual increase in values is in Oakland, but Berkeley shows the largest relative increase in the total increase of the county of more than $2,000,000 over the figures for last year, which were correspondingly higher than the figures for the year previous.

Expansion in manufacturing and the enormous multiplication of new residences account mainly for the increase in the roll, although farm land values show a slight advance, while unimproved urban property also shows a higher valuation. Oakland and Berkeley are the chief centers of factory and residence building, and consequently exhibit the more marked growth in wealth and population.

While there is an advance in Alameda, it is small compared to the advance in Oakland and Berkeley. In one way, this comparative slowness of growth is a striking proof of the importance of the improvement of the harbor as a factor in municipal progress. For the most part the water front on the Richman shore is unimproved marsh and therefore not lined with factories and wharves as is the water front of Oakland and Berkeley. Thus development in Alameda is retarded by the neglected condition of the water front.

But Oakland and Berkeley are not so hampered, and they are growing with phenomenal rapidity, and steadily approaching the condition of one compact community.

This mutual growth, based upon industrial expansion and the increased facilities for inter-urban rapid transit, is indubitable proof that real estate values are on the surest possible foundation and that a gradual advance is a necessary coincident.

FREE MEDICAL ADVICE TO WOMEN.

All Correspondence Is Sacredly Confidential

This is a very important consideration in a woman's correspondence with Mrs. Pinkham. It is a great satisfaction to feel that one woman can write to another telling her the most private and confidential details about her illness, and know that her letter will be seen by a woman only—a woman full of sympathy for her sick sisters, and with a knowledge of woman's ills greater than that possessed by any other person.

Mrs. Pinkham never violates the confidence thus entrusted to her, and although she publishes thousands of testimonials from women who have been benefited by her advice and medicine, never in all her experience has she published such a letter without the full consent, and often by special request of the writer.

The reason Mrs. Pinkham is so amply qualified to give advice in cases of female ills is for the reason that over one hundred thousand cases come before her each year,—some personally, others by mail, and this has been going on for twenty years, day after day, and day after day. Twenty years of constant success,—think of the knowledge thus gained. Surely, women are wise in seeking advice from a woman of such experience, especially when it is absolutely free.

As an illustration of the good coming from such advice we herewith publish two letters and portrait of Miss Lattie DeGroat, the reading of which should give every sick woman confidence in Mrs. Pinkham's ability to help them. This is only one of thousands of the same kind of letters which Mrs. Pinkham has on file.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have read with interest your advice to others so much that I thought I would write to you for I have been suffering for a long time. I have such head-ache, back-ache, and feel tired. Menstruation is very painful, sometimes I have to stop work and lie down. My stomach is so full, and I am troubled with whites. Hoping to hear from you soon, I remain, July 24th, 1900.
MISS LATTIE DEGROAT, Succasunna, N. J."

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I can hardly find words to thank you for your advice and wonderful Vegetable Compound. I was in a terrible state, every part of my body ached, was very nervous, had hysterical spells. I think I would have become insane had it not been for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Your letter told me just what to do, and your medicine cured me, and I cannot express my thanks.
March 8th, 1901.
MISS LATTIE DEGROAT, Succasunna, N. J."

No other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles or such hosts of grateful friends. Do not be persuaded that any other medicine is just as good. Any dealer who suggests something else has no interest in your case. He is seeking a larger profit. Follow the record of this medicine, and remember that the thousands of cures of women whose letters are constantly printed in this paper were not brought about by "something else," but by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

ing news is contained in the present week's issue of the Fourth Street Edition. It is well illustrated with views of mines and mining machinery. It also contains considerable information to the hydraulic miner. Published at San Francisco.

Beware of Kidney Troubles

Of all the diseases to which the human organism is susceptible, none are more fatal and painful than kidney trouble. I cannot find words to describe the terrible suffering I endured for over fifteen months. My kidneys were affected, and in fact the pelvic organs were diseased. The doctor said that nothing but an operation would cure me, and as I was afflicted with heart palpitation, it was not thought advisable to place me under an anesthetic, so I kept on taking medicine, but felt that I was not getting any better. One day a cousin who was visiting us from the East, told me of Cardui. I told her that I had often been advised to try it by friends, but had no faith in patent medicines. She, however, not only insisted that I try a bottle but was much pleased to find that after I had finished the first bottle my general health was better, and I felt so encouraged that I kept on using it for eight months and at the end of that time I was a healthy and happy woman. I feel it my duty to-day and all thanks to your wonderful remedy.

Mrs. Isaac Foster
President Woman's Outing Club.

WINE of CARDUI

Kidney troubles are dangerous for men, but when a woman has kidney pains the generative organs are almost always affected and the case demands all the warning Mrs. Foster gives. Do you know that "kidney pains" are often caused by ovarian trouble? And "ovarian pains" may mean kidney trouble. One cannot exist long without bringing on the other. Do not waste your time by taking kidney pills or some other uncertain remedy. If your back aches get Wine of Cardui and Theodor's Black-Draught and you can rest assured every lurking pain will be eradicated. Won't you do as much for your mother, wife, sister or daughter as Mrs. Foster's cousin did for her? You can bring them the same health as Mrs. Foster rejoices in by taking them a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui and a 25-cent package of Theodor's Black-Draught. All druggists sell Wine of Cardui and Theodor's Black-Draught.

Every effort will be made to plant the Stars and Stripes in the frozen North.

DAYS OF PASSES NUMBERED.

FREE RAILROAD TRAVELING TO BE GIVEN A SET-BACK.

Already the effects of the recent-enacted Elkins' law regarding passes is being felt on the Pacific Coast, and several editors have gone forth from the head offices discontinuing former courtesies.

Heretofore it has been a common practice among the various railroad companies to influence the routing of shipments of freight by conferring annual and trip passes upon those of influence, and now this has been ordered discontinued because it is an express violation of the law, which provides a method of punishment which is easily executed. All shippers who now have passes have been notified that they must turn them in, as they will be void in the future. The big merchants and shippers had come to a point where they looked upon free transportation as a matter of course. As a consequence, they can scarcely reconcile themselves to the new order of affairs.

ROUND TRIP FAVORS.

Another custom, which has been in force for years and which has been stopping down to the Elkins law, is the granting of round-trip favors.

It has been customary for people of influence, who bought round-trip tickets, to apply at any office after their arrival here, for permission to return by a different route, giving them an opportunity to see more of the country. As a matter of accommodation, the companies have always been willing to make these changes.

The Elkins law strictly prohibits any discrimination in freight or passenger business and the general opinion in the Western Passenger Association is that this custom is a special privilege and, therefore, contrary to the Elkins law. In view of this fact, instructions have been sent to the companies' agents to refuse to grant any requests for transfer of routes on round-trip tickets. This means that anyone buying a round-trip ticket must go and come over the same route.

It was a case in which it was necessary to grant transfers to all who asked for them or to grant none, and the company decided on the latter course.

ATLANTIC TO PACIFIC IN ONLY FOUR DAYS

If present plans are carried out, it will soon be possible to travel from the Atlantic seaboard to the Pacific coast in the brief space of four days. With regard to the proposed improvements an exchange says:

"Railroad improvement plans that may mean almost as much to the West as the original project of the trans-continental lines, are announced from two rival quarters. Both of them look forward to reducing the traveling time between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts to four days. Inasmuch as it is only fifteen years since this amount of time was necessary for the more than half the journey, and since under such relatively slow transportation, the farther West advanced to its present splendid development, there must be very large and notable progress awaiting it under the new program of the railroads.

The first announcement in this direction was made several weeks ago by President Harriman of the Southern Pacific, who declared that he intended to make unprecedented alterations in roadbeds, to build some vast tunnels through the Sierra Nevada, and to re-equip almost the entire system over which he has control. The second announcement now comes from President Hill of the Great Northern."

HAMMER MISSED RIVET AND HIT DE KRUSE

Ed De Kruse and W. Sager are two clowns, who are recent arrivals at the machine shop from Tucson, Ariz., and are expert boiler-makers. On account of their great friendship for each other, they work together whenever the opportunity permits them to do so. Yesterday afternoon, they were at work on a large locomotive boiler and Sager was welding the sludge hammer. Quite accidentally he regaled his natural consistency and richness. It is not heart disease. Sometimes people suffer intense pain over the heart, which is not heart disease, but caused by the stomach. It is the occasion of much anxiety, alarm and suffering, for which its victim is dependent upon reflex disturbances from the stomach caused by indigestion. In the same way many bad coughs are dependent upon these reflex disturbances of what is called the pneumogastric nerve.

There is no question that the common-sense way of treating all these symptoms is first to cast out the poisons from the system by a simple vegetable laxative such as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. These are made from botanical extracts, in concentrated form. To enrich the blood and increase the red corpuscles, Dr. Pierce years ago demonstrated in his large practice that there was a vegetable compound that would quickly rid the blood of symptoms enumerated above by increasing the red blood corpuscles and thereby feeding the nerves on rich blood and thus doing away with the nervous irritability. This "Medical Discovery" also acts upon the digestion and assimilation of food in the stomach, so that the blood gets its proper food in the stomach. Feed the lungs, stomach and heart on rich red blood and you have surely a healthy body which will throw off the germs of disease which lurk everywhere. Get as near nature's way as you can. A medicine made entirely from botanical extracts and which does not contain alcohol is the safest method. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery contains no alcohol nor narcotics.

$3,000 FORFEIT

Will be paid by the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y., if they cannot show the original signature of the individual volunteering the testimonial below, and also of the writers of every testimonial among the thousands which they are constantly publishing, thus proving their genuineness.

"This is to certify that I have used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and think it's the grandest medicine in the world," writes Mrs. V. M. Young, of West Va. "I took down sick six months ago and called in our physician and he gave me medicine but I grew worse. He said I had dyspepsia in its worst form. I continued to try every medicine and began to improve. I used five bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and three of 'Pleasant Prescription' and now I am doing my own housework. A number of my dear friends also are using Dr. Pierce's medicine and they recommend it highly. May God bless and prosper you in your grand work."

Sick people are invited to consult Dr. R. V. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held of strictly private and successfully confidential. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate the bowels.

Dr. R. V. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Advice is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address World's Dispensary Medical Association, Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y.

ACROSS COUNTRY.

"Go out of doors and get the air. Ah! If you knew what was in the air. See what your robust neighbor who has never feared to live in it, has got from it, strength, cheerfulness, power to convince, heartiness, and equality to each event."—Eaton.

In this we read between the lines less work for the doctors. The signs of the times point to an enormous increase in intelligent public interest in health. A new generation with purer, stronger blood and therefore more active, braver brains and body. No physically robust, healthy person ever succumbed to grip, consumption, malaria or any other chronic disease. But with a weakened system we all have to fight the germs of disease. Our blood is often in a fertile condition for the growth of bacteria—the germs of disease—because our stomach is disordered or our liver is torpid—in either case our blood does not get the proper nourishment. A torpid liver means a stagnation of the blood and an accumulated the rivet and the hammer came in violent contact with De Kruse's head just above the eye, raising a lump of gigantic dimensions in a very few minutes.

At first there was consternation among the employees for they thought the man had quarreled. However, they soon saw that it was an accident, pure and simple. It might have had a more serious result.

NOTES AND PERSONALS FROM THE YARDS

Engine No. 3302 is about completed and will leave the shop the first of next week. She is a giant passenger engine of the Atlantic type, and has just been converted into an oil-burner.

The tracks in various parts of the yard are being realigned.

There are an unusual number of old car wheels and trucks about the yard that are to be reduced to scrap iron.

Over two hundred feet of large-sized fire hose arrived at the machine shop yesterday for protection in the event of a fire.

Carthage, foreman of the boiler-makers, and Thomas Leary, boiler inspector, will leave shortly for Sacramento, where they will visit the shops.

A LAD'S MISHAP

IS THE STING OF A COMMON CAT-FISH POISONOUS?

A Kansas Boy Pricked by a Fish's Spines Contracts Blood Poisoning—The Family Doctor's Opinion.

A physician in Topeka, Kansas, attributed a case of blood poisoning recently to a prick from the spines of a catfish which had been left in a shallow pool by the falling waters of the Shunganunga river. It was found by a young son of Mrs. N. Barnett, of 714 Hancock street, Topeka, who captured and carried it home after a struggle. Some of the wounds his spines had made were so severe that the mother poulticed them. Soon one of the lad's fingers began to swell and became very painful. A physician dressed it, but the poison remained in the blood and the boy soon began to break out with boils on his face and neck.

"He suffered a great deal," said his mother, in telling the story. "His stomach became in bad condition and there were running sores on his lips, which were very painful. His blood was in horrible condition and the doctor said it would require a year's treatment with blood medicine to purify it."

"Did it get worse?"

"I didn't wait to see. My mother-in-law recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and two boxes cured the boy. He has not been troubled with the boils or sores since and his blood is in as good a condition as anybody's. Do you wonder that I recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills?"

Master Barnett's case is uncommon only in the cause of his trouble—the sting of the catfish. Impurities in the blood is a common complaint. But it is a dangerous one to neglect because disfigurements of the complexion are not the worst of the troubles it causes. Impure or impoverished blood lies at the root of most diseases to which mankind is heir. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are the best blood purifier and blood builder in the world, as is amply proven by their long record of cures. They have cured such diseases as locomotor ataxia, paralytic, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuritis, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after-effects of the grip, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexion and all forms of weakness either in mind or body.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold by all dealers or will be sent by mail on receipt of price, fifty cents a box; six boxes for two dollars and fifty cents, by addressing Dr. Williams Medical Center, Schenectady, N. Y.

is now living in Hayward.

Eugene Mathews has returned to his work in Crockett after spending a week at his home here.

Charles Heyer Jr. spent his midwinter vacation here with relatives.

Miss Kathryn Nauter spent Saturday and Sunday at her home here.

Mrs. C. B. Hildreth entertained a number of friends at a party at her home Friday.

SCENE FROM "TAMING OF THE SHREW," TO BE PRODUCED AT THE MACDONOUGH.

HOW MRS. MILLER RESENTED A SOCIAL SLIGHT.

The Sharp Taking Down of a Lady Who Set Herself Above Her Neighbors.

BY BETTY MARTIN.

Mrs. Turner was always very particular in her movements, but on this particular September morning she was more than usually emphatic as she finished dressing the baby. She dipped her comb into a basin of water standing near, and with a hasty fling of her hand sent the superfluous drops scattering in every direction. Then she gathered in its teeth the little hair which grew on top of the infant's head, and disregarding the screams with which he objected to being thus dealt with, curled it over her long forefinger. When it was finished, she laid his sunbonnet lightly under his chin, and over his Sunday dress pinned his best little three-cornered flannel shirt. This shirt had been given her by Mrs. Miller at the baby's christening.

There was no love lost between these two women, who lived within stone's throw of each other, but this morning Mrs. Turner meant to pay a visit to Mrs. Miller, and as it was not her intention to talk over a certain subject on which she wished the latter's opinion, she had the baby wear the shirt as a sort of implied compliment.

"There," said Mrs. Turner, "as she dumped the baby unceremoniously into his buggy, and thrust a nursing bottle into his open mouth. 'I reckon you'll do.' So saying, she turned to a tiny square mirror hanging on the door nearby, and looked at herself critically as she adjusted a slightly soiled fascinator across her gaudy bosom.

She was a woman not yet thirty, who would have been taken for forty. Her hair was twisted tightly with a pug at the nape of her neck, and her unbecoming gingham shirtwaist was finished by a tiny narrow band as a sort of apology for a collar.

Evidently Mrs. Turner was not pleased with her self-inspection, for she turned from the glass with a shrug of her shoulders, grasped the baby buggy by its handle, and pushed it quickly out of doors before. Closing the gate lightly to make sure that the chickens could not get out, she trotted briskly along her path which followed the backyard fence. The cat looked at Mrs. Turner lazily as she entered, and the big black shepherd dog did not even grudge a remembrance as he usually did while she made her way under the peach trees to the front, where after repeated efforts she succeeded in getting the buggy and its sleeping occupant up on to the front porch.

Puffing and panting with the exertion, she was met at the front door by Mrs. Miller, who had seen her coming and had hastened to meet her.

It was an unusually early call, and the hostess instinctively knew that the visit presaged news, or at least a bit of gossip. If there was anything dear to the later lady's soul it was gossip, so with voluble warmth she bade her guest enter.

Mrs. Miller was a squat little woman, with a sharp black eye and beaded nose. When she talked her mouth opened and shut with a snap. She was a recognized authority on social matters among the town folks, and her opinion was followed as law. Leading the way, with a self-important air, she turned into the parlor, a small room with bright-colored carpet and gaily papered walls on which hung faded crayons of Mrs. Miller's defunct relatives. In the center of the floor, placed with intentional precision on the glowing petals of a gorgeous Brussels rosewood a dangerously frail table with crocheted cover. Surrounding this was displayed, on a glass tray, a cut-glass cream pitcher and a sugar bowl—the pride of Mrs. Miller's heart. She had won this trophy at a whist tournament, and it was dearer to her than all her other possessions.

"Over in the corner, with its back squarely against the wall, stood an ancient piano, upon which, two days in the week, Mrs. Turner taught Arabella Miller to play 'Home, Sweet Home,' 'The Old Oaken Bucket,' and kindred melodies sweet to her father's ear. Mrs. Turner taught music by way of eking out her husband's scanty income. As a girl she had studied in an adjacent city, and was really a musician of fair merit, but she had fallen into the habit of 'cutting her cloth to suit her customers.' If her patrons chanced to possess an appreciation of matters musical, she instructed her pupils in the rudiments. Otherwise, she rushed them into rag-time and popular melodies, knowing that by so doing she ingratiated herself with the parents.

Mrs. Miller seated herself in one carpeted rocker, while Mrs. Turner took a patented one opposite.

"Lovely morning, isn't it," vouchsafed Mrs. Turner, by way of opening the conversation.

"Beautiful," replied Mrs. Miller. "The Captain"—she always called her husband the captain—"thought it might rain this morning, but I told him there wasn't much danger."

"You know it most always does rain during harvesting, though," answered Mrs. Turner.

"Yes, but I guess it won't today." Then ensued a pause. Mrs. Turner awkwardly dropped her handkerchief. She gazed abstractedly at the piano as she stooped to pick it up, and inquired in tones markedly polite, if Bella liked her new piece.

Mrs. Miller scented game.

"That she does," answered she, shooting an understanding glance at Mrs. Turner, and sitting bolt upright as her interest manifested itself. "I was just telling Mrs. Lewis yesterday how well Bella was getting along."

"Yes?" replied Mrs. Turner, with a tightening of the lips, as she played with the fringe on the arm of her rocker. "And what did she say?"

"She asked me how long Bella had been taking lessons of you, and I told her two years. How's Mrs. Lewis' daughter getting along?"

"Oh, pretty well. She's just taking scales and finger exercises yet."

Another strained quiet, full of meaning, ensued.

Mrs. Lewis was the thorn in the flesh of the two women. She had only recently arrived from the city, and brought with her traditions and training conspicuously different from Green Island standards.

"Are you going to Mrs. Lewis' musicale this afternoon?" queried Mrs. Miller, at last rather impatiently.

The ice was broken.

"No, I ain't," jerked out her guest. "I ain't had no invite." Ordinarily the music teacher was careful of her speech, in view of her occupation, but when talking to Mrs. Miller she invariably let that lady's level.

"I ain't neither," responded Mrs. Miller, "but I ain't think she'd ask you—are you a givin' that girl Frankie of her lessons. The little pest!"

"Tis queer, isn't it—her not askin' me? I wonder why?"

"An' me too, her nearest neighbor. Some folks is too upsh for anything! What d'ye suppose I heard Mrs. Lewis told Mrs. Pippas about you?"

"I don't know," eagerly—what was it?

"I don't know I ought to tell," said Mrs. Miller, slowly, and with ill-concealed delight at the shock she was about to cause, "but Mrs. Pippas told me that she'd heard that Mrs. Lewis had said 'impressively'—that you was good enough for teaching beginners tunes, but that Green Island ought to have a professor for the big scholars."

The iron entered Mrs. Turner's soul. "She said that, did she?"

"Indeed, she did."

Mrs. Turner glanced angrily and inquiringly at her friend. "What would you do if you was me?"

"Well," replied Mrs. Miller, evasively, "I consider you and me's been downright insulted by Mrs. Lewis this afternoon."

"So do I," responded Mrs. Turner, quickly, "and I don't intend to put up with no such airs."

"Nor I neither," replied Mrs. Miller.

her wrath rising. "Let's take her down a peg. I just tell you what I'd do," exclaimed she. "I'd shut right down on her girl's lessons."

"Would you?" queried Mrs. Turner, breathlessly.

"Indeed I would. I'd teach her to be puttin' on airs among folks who's been born and raised right here in Green Island. You just learn her a thing or two."

Mrs. Turner hastily debated the matter in her own mind. She hated to lose the money she derived from the lessons, but she certainly had been intentionally slighted in the matter of an invitation to the musicale. Finally pride got the upper hand.

"I'll do it!" declared Mrs. Turner decisively. "I'll write her a note and show her," exclaimed she, resolutely shutting her mouth with a snap.

"Do it now," suggested Mrs. Miller, rising and bringing writing materials, while the while Mrs. Turner's spunk fell.

That lady took them half reluctantly from the hand of her hostess, and wrote in a stiff angular hand:

Mrs. Lewis—After what has happened, I can no longer consent to give your daughter any more music lessons.

"Lucinda Turner."

"There," exclaimed she, "I guess she'll be sorry now that she didn't invite me to her house today. As if I couldn't play as well as anybody here."

The note was despatched by Mrs. Miller's half-overgrown son Bob, and Mrs. Lewis opened and read it at the front door, the while her two neighbors peered from behind half-closed blinds to note its effect. But Mrs. Lewis made no sign. A smile played about her lips as she closed the door and to this day Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Turner are harassed by secret doubts as to the wisdom of their course.

For the Woman of Fashion

Lenten discipline is certainly enjoyed to the uttermost by the women who make a point of being well gowned and who have waited until this season of the year in order to secure the latest models. An every self-respecting woman wishes to have her costumes fashioned after the latest models, considerable exertion is necessary to obtain the desired results. Dressmakers and milliners are now "rushed to death" with the orders for spring outfits, and the only wonder is that there are so many original designs when it is considered how many gowns are now required for those same spring wardrobe.

Severe and simple lines and any amount of trimming are the two diverse requisites in the spring fashions, and yet it has been proved possible to combine them. A skirt made in pleats, wide box pleats or with plain front, breadth and pleats at the sides and back, or with the upper part of the skirt plain and the lower in full pleats, uses the lines left and the trimming in medallions of lace put on so as to be most effective and at the same time not to interfere with the lines. The waist with wide box pleat in front, plain at sides and back, will have a transparent lace yoke and collar, and in the rest of the waist will be the same medallions of lace or embroidery as are on the skirt, but so put on as not to interfere with the by-lines. In other words, this style of gown is not made with ruffles or flounces, and all the trimmings are flat in effect. In cloth, light weight, in velvet, crepe de Chine, grenadine, linen, pongee, silk, taffeta foulard and linen these simple designs are very smart.

Braids of heavy lace insertion, with round, rather deep yoke and full puffed undersleeves of lace to match, is another style of trimming on the flat order, not so new, perhaps, as the medallions, but quite as effective. The new laces that are used for these gowns are certainly quite different from what were fashionable a few years ago, and the lovers of fine laces find it hard to accustom themselves to what has always been known as curtain lace. Still, fashion has decreed that coarse, but at the same time loosely woven, laces must be worn, and consequently the order is followed. All the newest waists are made of these laces, and after all, when the foundation is of the accordion pleated chiffon over a fitted silk lining, the effect is not bad, except by contrast with a waist of fine black chantilly over white, equally fashionable, and, of course, far more valuable.

Light colored cloth gowns are thought very smart, and white white is still in the lead there are many different colors in the light pastel shades that are rather newer. The latest models in these light cloth gowns have long coats, loose from the shoulders, with large, loose sleeves and quantities of lace, the smartest sleeves being finished from the shoulders to show a full under-sleeve of the lace. Some have a deep cape of lace, a three-skirt cape of the cloth, with a fall of lace under the last cape, but one great objection to these capes is that for warm weather they are too heavy to be comfortable, and consequently the other style, with the long sleeve starting from within a few inches of the collar, are more suitable for this time of year. Long lines, too, are given by this last style, and long lines are, of course, requisite to the happiness of every smart woman, who, if truth be told, too often sacrifices a becoming fashion in order to attain them.

Yokes are one of the new fashions, although last year they were used in many of the spring gowns. Now tucked or stitched or shirred yokes are seen on both thin and thick materials and really serve as a sort of trimming. A curious feature of the new gowns is that they all seem to be too large. The skirts, supposedly tight fitting around the hips, and certainly not made to disguise the figure, are so full below the hips as to be heavy and look too large. The waists are all full and loose in front, whether made tight fitting in the back or in the short jacket effect that is loosely and large, so that altogether it would seem at first glance as though a most unnecessary amount of material were employed. The skirts with yokes, and, in fact, all skirts that are made with a lot of material, have two most disagreeable tendencies which must needs be corrected. They hang forward at the sides, or are made so tight that when sitting down there are always wrinkles across the front breadth of the skirt goes up in front, displaying the feet in a most ugly fashion. In fitting all skirts, great care must accordingly be taken to lift the skirt at the sides and toward the back. This, for two reasons, one to give the long line in front and another to give more flare, for if a skirt is cut in too up and down straight lines there is no flare, and the fullness at the back, instead of standing out from the figure, giving a graceful swing, simply "sinks" in and is most unbecoming even to a slender woman, for it makes the back look quite square, but the raising of the skirt at the sides and center of the back—of course there must be extra length allowed for—will shorten the gown considerably. Both long and short skirts require this sort of treatment if a becoming effect is desired. As to the waists, apparently so large, they are all most carefully fitted and as tight as is comfortable with bone lacing, with, be it remembered, sufficient width across the bust and just below it to avoid that ugly tight appearance a waist too small across the front is sure to have. The waist itself is made with the hanging at the side seams only, but in spite of being loose and apparently shapeless requires as much if not more fitting than when the fashions call for severely plain waists with many seams. The waist line must always be defined and the side-line also, throwing the fulness all in front. A belt, wide at the back, keeps in all extra fulness there, or if the gown be on the princess order the material at the back is well pulled down and fastened under the very narrow pinned belt, which is all that is allowed to break the long line.

A New Cork Puller.

If you want to amuse friends at a picnic, or have left the corkscrew at home, as usually happens, tell them that you can draw a cork out of any bottle without a corkscrew. Of course they will laugh, but very soon it will be your turn to smile.

Take a piece of sealing wax and hold one end of it over a lighted match until it becomes soft; then let some drops of the wax fall on the cork in the bottle. As soon as the cork is covered with wax you must press the piece which you hold in your hand against the cork, and you must hold it there until the wax is quite dry. Then it will be easy for you to draw out the cork by using the stick of wax which adheres to it in the same manner as you would use a screw.

No matter how firmly fixed the cork may be, it will almost immediately yield to the pressure. You must, however, take care not to wrench the stick of wax away from it while you are drawing it out, and you must also see that the cork is perfectly dry before you put any wax on it.

Savory Dishes For Luncheon.

Dish of Consommé.
Boiled Ham, Beef, Oyster Sauce,
in wine, Potatoes,
Chicken, Biscuits,
Charcuterie of Oranges,
Cheese, Coffee.

Game Consommé.—For this use any game carcasses, all of one kind, like partridge or quail, or several kinds, with the addition of two or three pigeons or squabs. It is not advisable to use in this soup any turkey, or goose, or domestic duck bones; they rather destroy the game flavor, which is desirable. Make as you do any clear consommé, and serve with tiny game quenelles.

Crab Fricassee.—Boil a dozen hard shelled crabs. Pick out the meat carefully. Into a saucepan put a lump of butter, a gill of sweet cream, and let this come to the boiling point; be careful not to let it burn. Then put in the crab meat, a teaspoonful of anchovy sauce, a dash of paprika, and a sherry glass of Madeira wine. Let it stand a few minutes and serve very hot on hot toast.

Orange Fritters.—Peel the oranges and free from pith and seeds. Cut into rather good sized pieces; and cover with sugar and a little brandy to stand for an hour or more. Prepare a fritter batter as usual, but beat the whites and yolks of the eggs separately. Dip the pieces of orange into this and fry in boiling fat. After the fritters are cooked and ready to go to table scatter over them the sugar and brandy in which the oranges were marinated.

Sweetbreads with Black Butter.—Boil the sweetbreads and press between two plates until cold. Put half a pound of butter into a frying pan and stir over the fire till frothy and brown. Then put in the sweetbreads and brown on both sides. When cooked put the sweetbreads on a hot dish garnished with sliced lemon and pour a little of the brown butter over them.

Pinner Huddle Savory.—Free the fish from all bones and skin and chop it quite finely. Moisten with butter and cook gently till tender. Then add cream to make it of the proper consistency to put over toast. Over it scatter chopped Spanish peppers.

Venison Hash.—Fry an onion and a little chopped parsley in an ounce of butter for five minutes or so; take out the onion, add a gill of white wine, and when hot put in two-thirds of a cup of cold cooked venison diced and one-third of a cup of fresh mushrooms. Heat through and serve.

Radish and Cucumber Salad.—Slice cucumbers and radishes very thinly, an equal quantity of each; arrange in salad dish, add French dressing and scatter chopped chives over all. Besides being palatably attractive this salad is one that is good to look at.

Brussels Sprouts Salad.—Boil a pint of Brussels sprouts, having in the water one small onion and the juice of a lemon. When done, drain well, put away to cool, and just before serving cover with mayonnaise.

Stewed Okra with Tomato Sauce.—Trim the okra pods as for stewing, and boil till tender. Then fry out three or four slices of bacon, lift this out of the frying pan, put the okra in and cover with a rich tomato sauce. Heat through and serve.

Baked Onions.—Boil the onions till tender in water and milk. Take up and mash, adding plenty of melted butter to them, and seasoning with pepper and salt. Put in a baking dish, cover with bread crumbs, and brown in a hot oven.

Pheasant Soufflé.—Prepare a pheasant for boiling and boil it till tender in about a pint of white stock, having in it a little bacon and some chopped vegetables—turnips, carrots and onions. When the bird is quite tender, lay it on a gridiron over a very hot fire. Give it five minutes on each side, and serve surrounded by the liquor in which it was boiled.

Stewed Okra.—Take young and tender pods of okra, cut off each end and wash thoroughly. Boil for an hour in salted water, then drain off the water and toss them about over the fire in some melted butter.

Fried Venison Chops with Chestnut Purée.—Season the chops with pepper and salt and fry in butter, turning them frequently. Have ready some chestnut purée, made by boiling the chestnuts till very tender and then pressing them through a sieve, and after taking the chops from the frying pan put the purée in to heat. Pour it over the chops and serve.

Curried Chicken with Spanish Peppers.—Cut a chicken into small, neat pieces, and cook till tender in water well flavored with herbs and seasoned with salt and pepper. When done take out the chicken, drain and wipe it dry. Fry till brown in butter, then in the frying pan put a little of the strained liquor in which it was boiled. Thicken this with flour, add curry powder and some canned pineapples chopped to fine bits.

Lamb Cutlets with Chicken Livers.—Season the cutlets with pepper and salt and fry in a little butter. Cut for six cutlets as many chicken livers into pieces half an inch square and fry these in butter also. As they are about done moisten with a little Madeira wine and pour into the centre of a dish, arranging the cutlets on the outside.

Fried Frog's Legs.—Cut the legs apart at each joint; and, after cleansing and wiping well, put in a dish with chopped onions, salt, pepper, lemon juice, some branches of parsley and a little olive oil. Let them stand for two hours or more. Take out, roll in flour and fry in hot fat.

Shrimp Salad.—Have one jar of Epicurean Shrimps and add to them a few bits of shredded lettuce. Sprinkle over them a few drops of lemon juice. Then spread over all a layer of mayonnaise and garnish with capers.

Chocolate Mousse.—Have a pint of rich cream and whip well, draining it through a sieve and whipping all that drains through. Dissolve one ounce of unwetted chocolate with the same amount of sugar and a teaspoonful of hot water. Put the dish containing this into hot water and stir till very smooth, then add to it a tablespoonful of cream. Add also a few drops of vanilla. When this is quite done whip into the whipped cream a heaping tablespoonful of powdered sugar. Pour, a little at a time, the chocolate into the cream, and pack in a mould, putting the mould into ice and salt, there to stay till firm and ready to serve, probably three or four hours. When unmoulding garnish with cuts of crystallized pineapple and angelica.

French Tomato Salad.—Cut pieces of cold tongue into rather small bits and put a layer into the salad bowl, put in the a layer of chopped cucumbers, over these a sprinkling of some chopped anchovies, and add a French dressing with salt not too prominent in it, then another layer of tongue, another of cucumbers and anchovies till bowl is full, having cucumbers for top layer. Garnish with lettuce hearts.—The Epicure.

White Corduroy.

Not many persons know that white or cream corduroy can be washed like cotton and does not require ironing. A shirtwaist made of cream-colored corduroy should not be sent to the cleaners, but washed, pulled out in shape, well shaken and dried. Corduroy wears well and is pretty to itself without trimming.
